AUSTRALIA BANS UNDER-16S FROM SOCIAL MEDIA IN NOVEL CRACKDOWN

A raft of the world's most popular apps and websites face US$33 million in fines if they fail to purge Australia-based users younger than 16

ONUS ON INTERNET FIRMS TO CHECK USER AGE

The Australian government said unprecedented measures are needed to protect children from "predatory algorithms" filling phone screens with bullying, sex and violence. The laws came into effect on Wednesday across Australia. Social media companies bear the sole responsibility for checking users are 16 or older, with some saying they'll use AI to detect a user's age

NEW ZEALAND, MALAYSIA MAY FOLLOW SUIT

- YouTube has attacked the laws as "rushed" and said they would only push children into deeper, darker corners of the internet
- Australia's efforts will be closely watched by all those worried about the dangers of social media. Already, New Zealand and Malaysia are mulling similar restrictions on teenagers as per news reports | P14

Vote theft anti-national act, says Rahul

Alleges ECI undermining electoral process; says law can be changed to hold poll panel accountable

The biggest anti-national act you can do is vote 'chori'. Because when you destroy the vote, you destroy the fabric of this country

— Rahul Gandhi, LoP in Lok Sabha

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

LEADER of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi on Tuesday launched a sharp attack against the ruling party accusing it of committing the "biggest anti-national act" by orchestrating 'vote theft' in collusion with the Election Commission and undermining the idea of India.

Participating in a discussion on election reforms, Gandhi also outlined a slew of electoral reforms to safeguard the integrity of the electoral process. Making suggestions, he called for providing machine-readable voter lists to all parties one month before elections, taking back the law that allows destruction of CCTV footage after 45 days, giving access to EVMs, and changing the law that allows the election commissioners "to get away with whatever they want to do".

In his 30-minute speech, he posed three questions which he claimed show the BJP is "directing and using" EC to damage India's democracy.

"The biggest anti-national act you can do is vote chori (theft). Because when you destroy the vote, you destroy the fabric of this country, you destroy modern India, you destroy the idea of India. Those across the aisle are doing an anti-national act," Gandhi said, gesturing towards the treasury benches.

He cautioned the election commissioners that law can be changed retroactively to hold them accountable. "Let me remind them: don't worry, we are going to change the law, and that too retroactively. And we are going to come and find you," he said.

Demanding an answer from Union Home Minister Amit Shah, the Congress leader asked why the Chief Justice of India was removed from the selection panel for appointing the Chief Election Commissioner and Election Commissioners. Why are the prime minister and home minister so keen on choosing who the election commissioner is going to be, he asked.

Lashing out at the government for altering the law with regard to CCTV footage to enable vote theft, the former Congress chief said, "Why was a law put in place that allows the EC to destroy CCTV footage 45 days after the election? It is not a question of data. It is a question of stealing the election."

The joint secretaries of the ministries of Defence, MHA, I&B, Dept of Economic Affairs, and Dept of Rural Development will arrive in West Bengal on Thursday to oversee SIR work. They have been appointed by EC as special roll observers

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

EXPRESSING concern over reports of Booth Level Officers (BLO) being threatened in West Bengal and other states, the Supreme Court on Tuesday directed the Election Commission of India to take action to protect BLOs.

While issuing directions on the security of ground-level electoral staff, a bench of Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi also warned states against non-cooperation in the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls.

"Bring to our notice instances of lack of cooperation, hindrances to work of BLOs and we will pass appropriate orders," the bench told senior advocate Rakesh Dwivedi, appearing for the Election Commission. "Deal with the situation or it will cause anarchy," CJI Kant told Dwivedi.

The bench said the directions regarding the protection and management of BLOs will apply on a pan-India basis.

The directions came during the hearing of a batch of pleas by various states including West Bengal, Kerala, Assam and others over challenges faced during teh voter roll revision.

107 MPs submit notice to impeach Madras HC judge

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi/Chennai

AS many as 107 INDIA bloc MPs, led by DMK, submitted a notice to Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla on Tuesday, seeking impeachment of Madras High Court judge G R Swaminathan for his order of December 1 and 3 directing Subramaniya Swamy temple authorities at Thirupparankundram to allow lighting lamps on a pillar (deepathoon) near a dargah on the hill.

The impeachment notice accused Justice G R Swaminathan — of the Madurai bench of Madras HC — of conduct that "raises serious questions regarding impartiality, transparency, and the secular functioning of the judiciary." It alleged "undue favouritism" towards senior advocate M Sricharan Ranganathan and lawyers from a "particular community," besides deciding cases on "particular political ideology" against the constitutional principle of secularism. Copies of the notice were also sent to President Droupadi Murmu and CJI Sanjiv Khanna.

The delegation included Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, Akhilesh Yadav, T R Baalu, Kanimozhi, Supriya Sule and others. On December 3, Justice Swaminathan had allowed a group of petitioners to light the lamp on the pillar near the dargah, and directed CISF protection to them. Police stopped the group from lighting the lamp, leading to a furore, prompting the Tamil Nadu government to move the Supreme Court, which admitted TN's plea. P7

K'taka HC stays menstrual leave order, recalls it within hours

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday recalled its interim order staying a notification of the state government granting a day of menstrual leave in a month for women aged between 18 and 52.

Justice Jyoti M passed the interim order at 10.45 am after hearing the two petitions filed by the Bangalore Hotels' Association and Avirata AFL Connectivity Systems Ltd, Bengaluru. But she recalled the order around 1.30 pm after Advocate-General K Shashikiran Shetty requested to consider the arguments of the state before staying the notification. The matter was adjourned till Wednesday for a hearing.

The petitioners stated that depending on the nature of work or process, industrial establishments are required to be registered under various Acts. These statutes primarily regulate health, welfare and overall working conditions of employees, including hours of work, weekly holidays, leave with wages, etc. There is a comprehensive statutory framework that mandates employers to provide sufficient leave to the employees.

But the government's November 20 notification is not supported by any legislative enactment. There is no specific provision in those statutes mandating employers to provide menstrual leave to female employees, and as such, the government is not empowered to direct industrial establishments to provide menstrual leave by way of an executive order, the petitioners claimed. ₹5,475 CR LOST

State clocked 57,733 cyber cases in 3 yrs

PRAMODKUMAR VAIDYA @ Belagavi

ACCORDING to a shocking statistic revealed in the Legislative Assembly on Tuesday, the state witnessed 57,733 cybercrimes in the last three years with people losing a whopping Rs 5,475 crore.

The police, however, managed to detect only 10,717 cases and recover only Rs 627 crore. But the number of such cases being reported has come down because of initiatives taken by the government this year.

Tabling detailed data on cybercrimes while replying to a query by MLA Cement Manju, Home Minister G Parameshwara said changes have been brought to the Police Act to empower the police to curb and detect such crimes. Despite steps taken by the government, persons involved in such crimes have been duping innocent people using advanced technology, he added.

The number of cybercrimes reported in 2023 was 22,255 and money swindled was Rs 873.29 crore. The police detected 6,159 cases and managed to recover Rs 177 crore.

This year though the number of cases has come down, the money stolen has risen to Rs 2,039 crore. In all, 1,009 cases have been detected and Rs 127 crore recovered.

Parameshwara said the dip in number is because of several initiatives taken by the Home Department, including setting up of 43 CyberCrime, Economic Offences and Narcotics (CEN) police stations across the state. CONTINUED ON: P4

MICROSOFT TO INVEST $17.5 BN IN INDIA OVER 4 YRS

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

US tech giant Microsoft has announced $17.5 billion (₹1.58 lakh crore) investment in India over the next four years to help build the infrastructure, skills, and capabilities needed for the country's AI future. The firm's CEO Satya Nadella, who met Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday, called it "the largest investment ever in Asia". Modi and Nadella discussed India's AI roadmap and growth priorities, Microsoft said.

The US firm's investment in India focuses on three pillars—scale, skills, and sovereignty—aligned with the Prime Minister's vision of building a comprehensive ecosystem that drives AI innovation and access at a national scale.

Puneet Chandok, president of Microsoft India and South Asia, said the new investment will be used to continue scaling the company's cloud and AI infrastructure, skilling initiatives, and ongoing operations across India.

How Air India managed to escape crisis

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

PLANNING in advance helped Tata-owned Air India Group to ensure that both Air India and Air India Express sailed through smoothly after DGCA's revised crew roster came into effect from November 1.

This is in stark contrast to the shoddy management by IndiGo, which resulted in 1,232 cancellations last month that cascaded into a full-blown crisis from December 1.

Back in October, when the Union civil aviation ministry finalised the winter schedule (October 26, 2025 to March 28, 2026) for all domestic airlines, IndiGo was permitted to operate 15,014 departures per week, the maximum permitted for any airline. Air India and Air India Express were allotted 4,277 and 3,171 flights, respectively, per week.

Sources in Air India said the the new Flight Duty Time Limitations (FDTL) were a huge challenge as literally everything had to be changed. Also, Air India was trying to rebuild its image after the Ahmedabad disaster. Air India began recruitment of Captains and Flying Officers quite early, said a source. "We went all out to recruit pilots ...we understood the new roster would require a massive increase in operational crew," sources said.

IndiGo on Monday told DGCA that a software glitch was also a contributory reason for the crisis. Air India had figured this two months ago.

"When it was made known clearly to all of us that the new rules will fully come into effect by November 1, we began work on it by October. The software involved in it is a very complicated one. It took us two months to ready it," an AI source said. P15

GBA aims to mop up ₹2Kcr through premium FAR

Urges public, landowners and developers to prepare building plans, submit for approval

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

GREATER Bengaluru Authority (GBA) is aiming to mop up around Rs 2,000 crore through premium FAR (Floor Area Ratio) route.

It has urged the public, landowners and developers to make use of the opportunity and called upon them to prepare building plans including the the proposed premium FAR and submit them for approvals.

A move aimed to facilitate higher-density developments and optimal utilisation of high-value land within Bengaluru city limits, premium FAR is the additional built-up area that developers can acquire over and above the permissible FAR by paying a premium charge to the government.

In a press statement on Tuesday, the GBA Chief Commissioner, M Maheswar Rao, stated that provisions have been made under Section 18(B) of the KTCP Act, 1961, and Rule 37(E) of the Planning Authority Rules to allow the use of Premium FAR (Floor Area Ratio) in addition to the basic FAR. Under Section 13(E) of the KTCP Act, 1961, amendments have been introduced to the zoning regulations of the Revised Master Plan (RMP)-2015 by inserting Chapter 11 titled "Premium FAR Granted by Levy of Premium Charges," and a notification to this effect was issued on April 2.

Stating that the High Court has upheld the state's decision to introduce premium FAR, Rao said that applicants may obtain additional FAR (Premium FAR) beyond the basic FAR by considering the prevailing guidance value.

"Charges applicable as per the guidance value must be calculated and paid to avail the additional FAR. By paying the prescribed charges, applicants may obtain a premium FAR up to 0.4 (40%) of the basic FAR. Further, an additional 0.2 (20%) of the basic FAR may be availed through TDR, allowing a total maximum additional FAR of 0.6 (60%) over the basic FAR", he explained.

Developers and owners may prepare building plans, including the proposed Premium FAR and submit them for approval when seeking building permission, Rao said. He added that when people head to pay the building plan approval fee, the premium FAR would be calculated, and the builders would be given an option to pay both--the approval fee and the premium FAR.

"If the building plan approval fee and the premium FAR are paid, the respective corporations would grant permission to the builders to carry out construction using the FAR along with the premium FAR", GBA said. This is a simple and already operational process. Software has been updated accordingly, enabling all stakeholders to make use of the facility, Rao said.

Govt intends to establish five hi-tech SWM plants in city

PRAMODKUMAR VAIDYA @Belagavi

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Tuesday said that the state government intends to establish five more integrated solid waste management (SWM) plants in and around Bengaluru to process around 8,000 tonnes of waste.

He was replying to MLA Dheeraj Muniraju during Question Hour in the Assembly. Shivakumar, who is also Bengaluru Development Minister, said the SWM plants will generate biogas from waste.

Muniraju opposed the move to establish an integrated SWM plant at Gundalahalli village in Doddaballapur district. The MLA said the people of Gundalahalli and nearby surrounding villages are against the proposed plant. It was because of their protest, the previous Siddaramaiah government did not go ahead with the project in 2016, stating that it will cause environment and water pollution. The government has not conducted social and environmental impact studies in the village, he added.

Shivakumar said the proposed plant will be set up using advanced technology and there should not be any apprehension over pollution. The project has received environmental clearance. He urged the MLA to raise awareness among the villagers in this regard.

The DCM said that he is also keen on setting up such plants in Kanakapura and Bidadi. Admitting the claim that a mafia is controlling the management of solid waste, Shivakumar said he is open to suggestions to improve cleanliness in the city, including bringing it under the Essential Services Maintenance Act. He said that he wants to adopt the Mangaluru City Corporation's garbage clearance model for Bengaluru.

E-khata applications

Shivakumar said action has been taken to dispose of 31,274 applications for e-khatas and new khatas in GBA limits.

Replying to MLA Gopalaiah K, he said to reduce the workload and avoid delays, the applications are now being processed by an automated and accurate allocation system that assigns work uniformly to revenue employees.

Some legislators had pointed out that the new system of issuing e-khatas caused problems for property owners. Taking into consideration the advantages and disadvantages, arrangements will be made to revert to the earlier system of issuing e-khatas, Shivakumar said.

Rao orders crackdown on illegal banners

Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao has directed his officials to remove unauthorised flex banners, impose fines and file cases against those responsible for putting them up. Addressing a virtual meeting with officials of the five city corporations here on Tuesday, he said all illegally installed flexes and banners must be cleared immediately, appropriate legal action taken and penalties imposed on offenders. He also instructed officials to identify 50 dilapidated pedestrian locations across the 10 zones of the five corporations, repair them and submit a report. Rao told officials to take immediate action to procure towing machines and upgrade the 'Suraksha 75' junctions. "In accordance with the Supreme Court's directions, identify suitable locations for dog shelters in each city corporation," Rao said. ENS

Kasturinagar to get master plan for development of roads, walkways, parks

GBA Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao during an inspection of different areas in Kasturinagar on Tuesday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

GREATER Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao on Tuesday inspected different areas in Kasturinagar, falling under Bengaluru Central and East City Corporations limits, and directed officials to prepare a detailed master plan covering overall infrastructure development, including roads, footpaths and parks.

Taking note of unhygienic conditions at the waste transfer unit and the dry waste collection centre located under the flyover, Rao instructed officials to carry out immediate cleaning and ensure continuous maintenance. He also ordered immediate removal of construction debris, discarded sofas and other waste dumped under the flyover, and development of the area for public use.

Rao told officials to desilt the stormwater drain to Benniganahalli Lake to restore the flow of water. An RCC retaining wall should be constructed along the stormwater drain adjacent to the flyover service road, he said. To prevent illegal dumping of waste under the flyover, he directed Bengaluru Solid Waste Management Ltd (BSWML) to install CCTV cameras and strengthen monitoring. He also instructed officials to take strict action against those found dumping waste.

"Railways must complete the ongoing track-related and other civil work near Benniganahalli Lake within the stipulated timeline," Rao said, instructing them to ensure no damage occurs to the lake and to construct the culvert ensuring proper water flow.

HUMAN RIGHTS DAY

'India witnessing reversals in civil, political rights'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

INDIA is witnessing "very serious reversals" in civil and political rights, former Amnesty International secretary-general and activist Salil Shetty said.

He was speaking at a public dialogue on human rights held here on Tuesday, where speakers, including Law Commission of Karnataka Chairman Justice Ashok B Hinchigeri pointed out widening socioeconomic inequalities and weakening accountability across state institutions. The event was organised by the Universal School of Law on the topic 'Why India Ranks High on GDP but Low on Human Rights?'

According to Justice Hinchigeri, a cause for lack of enforceability of human rights is that wealth concentration remains a defining challenge, as he noted research that "the top 1% now own about 40% of India's wealth." He identified low public spending on health and education as another fundamental factor, stressing that such expenditure "is not to be treated as an expenditure but an investment into people."

He identified overpopulation, deep-rooted caste and communal divisions, and corruption as additional barriers to achieving human rights. Citing the Justice Vineet Narain ruling, he said the Supreme Court has recognised the "right to a corruption-free government" as part of human rights.

Urging for a distinction between democracy and mere electoralism, Shetty said, "Despite macroeconomic growth, the state apparatus suffers from capacity deficits." He criticised the central government for "data manufacturing" and emphasised that the "central tenet of human rights protection is accountability".

Bengaluru second in rooftop solar installations

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

BENGALURU Urban was ranked second compared to other Indian metropolis in the installation of rooftop solar panels and the number of household benefiting from it, according to a report from the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE).

But the state government officials say that Karnataka lags behind the target set by the central government for the installation of solar rooftop panels under the Pradhan Mantri-Surya Ghar Muft Bijli Yojana scheme.

The ministry in its response to Bangalore South MP Tejavi Surya's question in Lok Sabha stated that there are 4,984 solar roof top installations in Bengaluru Urban and 386 in Bengaluru Rural, making it a total of 5,370 installations in BESCOM limits.

The MNRE also said that 11,854 households in Bengaluru Urban and 386 households in Bengaluru Rural have benefited from the scheme.

Bengaluru Urban lagged behind Mumbai covering 18,223 households under the scheme with 428 installations in Mumbai and Mumbai Suburban.

As per the report there are a total of 18,99,494 installations benefiting 23,79,580 households, as on November 30, 2025 in India. Of which 13,176 installations are in Bengaluru, Mumbai, Hyderabad and Chennai, benefiting 41,955 households.

The central government has set a target for each state to achieve in terms of number of installations and households availing the scheme. In case of Karnataka, it is 1.02 lakh consumers by March 2027. So far, around 13,000 installations have been done in Karnataka.

"We are trying to meet the target. Under the scheme, the Centre gives around Rs 78,000 subsidy for installation of 3 kilowatt solar rooftop panel. To boost the scheme, many state governments are giving an additional top-up subsidy like an additional Rs 10,000 per kilo watt during installation. Karnataka offers no additional top-up as money is invested in the Gruha Jyothi scheme," sources in the energy department said.

Under the scheme, individual houses can install even a 1MW rooftop panel, but the maximum limit an apartment block can install is 500 kilowatt. "In Bengaluru apartments which are usually installing panels utilise the power generated for common area lighting," BESCOM officials said.

ROAD RAGE

Trucker chases biker, tries to mow him down

Arrested after motorists pursue him for 3km

PRAVEEN KUMAR @Bengaluru

A 25-year-old biker is undergoing treatment in a private hospital after a murder attempt was made on him by a truck driver in a road rage incident.

The victim, identified as H Harish, a resident of Ramasagara in Anekal, was rushed to the hospital by the police and passersby in an ambulance after he was knocked down.

The accused has been identified as Devaraju, a resident of Chandapura.

The incident happened around 1.20 pm on Sunday near Chandapura lake on the Dommasandra-Chandapura Road.

"The truck driver was driving in a rash and negligent manner. Fearing that he would hit me, I slowed down at a road hump near Nallappa Nursery. The truck driver who blocked me, came near me and started scolding me even though I was not at fault. As he continued shouting, I left the place. He then chased me for another half-kilometer and rammed into my two-wheeler near the Heelalige storm water drain. Due to the impact, I lost control and fell down," the victim told the police in the statement.

Motorists who witnessed the incident chased the truck for more than three kilometers and nabbed him before handing him over to the Suryanagar police, who have registered a case of attempt to murder against the accused.

"The accused has been remanded in judicial custody. The truck has been seized. His blood and urine samples have been collected to ascertain if he was driving under the influence of alcohol. The vehicle's documents are also being checked. The doctors have put around eight sutures to the victim. He is out of danger," said an officer part of investigation.

715 killed in road accidents in city in 10 months

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AS many as 715 people, including 203 pedestrians, have died in road accidents in Bengaluru in the last ten months, Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara informed the Assembly during the winter session at Suvarna Soudha in Belagavi.

Responding to Rajajinagar BJP MLA Suresh, who sought details on the number of accidents in the city, the number of fatalities and the measures being taken to ensure pedestrian safety, Parameshwara said 3,985 accidents were reported till October this year, compared to 4,769 reported in 2024. In 2024, the total number of fatalities stood at 894, including 246 pedestrians.

The minister said the government has taken several enforcement measures to safeguard pedestrians. In 2025 alone, 83,139 cases were registered under the IMV Act and 175 cases under the BNS for parking vehicles on footpaths. Additionally, 14,719 IMV Act cases and 39 BNS cases were booked against those riding vehicles on footpaths.

To reduce pedestrian-related accidents, the government has installed elevated iron grills along road medians and identified 216 lane-marking locations, 363 zebra crossings, 112 grill barricade points and 45 pelican signal spots. A letter has been sent to the Greater Bengaluru Authority chief commissioner requesting installation at these sites. Another letter has been sent seeking the construction of 101 skywalks at critical locations.

Parameshwara added that traffic police stationed at junctions are creating awareness to discourage pedestrians from crossing roads recklessly. The city currently has 39 pelican signals and awareness drives are under way to educate the public on their proper use.

Woman assaulted in PG by students

Bengaluru: A 29-year-old employee of a private company has filed a police complaint alleging that a group of girls from a north-eastern state assaulted and racially abused her when she asked them to stop making noise. The incident happened at a paying guest accommodation on New BEL Road in Sanjaynagar police station limits. According to the police, the incident took place around 10.15 pm on December 4. The victim, Lakshmi K C, heard loud sound coming from the adjacent room and initially asked the girls, who are studying in different colleges, to lower their voices, which they agreed to. However, when the noise continued, Lakshmi confronted them again. The police said a girl, identified as Ten Jing Ang Zom Buttia, became enraged and abused Lakshmi using filthy language, pulled her hair, pushed her against a wall and allegedly banged her head around ten times. Lakshmi lost consciousness due to the assault. She was rushed to a hospital by her friends. The victim also alleged that several of the accused threatened her. Based on her complaint, the police have registered a case. ENS

Oji Kuppam gangman held, ₹4 lakh recovered

Bengaluru: A 32-year-old habitual offender from the infamous Oji Kuppam gang has been arrested by the KR Puram police in connection with the theft of Rs 4.5 lakh from a two-wheeler in December last year. Police have recovered Rs 4 lakh from him. The accused has been identified as Raja alias Chinna Kumar of Trichy in Tamil Nadu. He was arrested from the neighbouring state on November 21, 2025, and taken to 11 day police custody. After the theft, he had given the money to a person in Koramangala. The complainant, Sudhakar, a resident of Horamavu, had withdrawn the cash from a bank in Ramamurthy Nagar for his house construction. Raja along with his four others were involved in the crime. The police are on the lookout for the other accused. The gang had committed a similar crime in Kengeri during that time. Raja belongs to the inter-state criminal gang from the village of Oji Kuppam in Chittoor district of Andhra Pradesh. They are known for attention diversion techniques and target people near banks. There are cases against them for pick pocketing and also stealing valuables by breaking the windshields of cars. Most of the gang comprises only relatives, including women. ENS

Police body wants DG&IGP to curb harassment of motorists

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka State Police Complaints Authority (KSPCA) has written to Director General and Inspector General of Police (DG & IGP) M A Saleem, urging him to direct his officers and staff to stop "harassing, assaulting, or using abusive language" against vehicle drivers during routine checks.

In the letter sent on Monday, KSPCA member Mohan Kumar Danappa said while the state police department is regarded as a disciplined force, repeated incidents of misconduct by certain officers and personnel are tarnishing its reputation. Despite multiple circulars and reminders over the years, complaints continue to surface about excesses during vehicle inspections, he noted. Several such incidents have been widely reported on social media and in mainstream media, creating a public perception that the department is "anti-people", he added.

The KSPCA has requested the DG & IGP to issue appropriate circulars and clear instructions to all personnel to ensure courteous behaviour towards drivers of all types of vehicles.

Youth murders friend, posts video of crime scene

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hassan

A youngster, under the influence of ganja, clobbered his friend to death with a stone on the Bengaluru-Mangaluru National Highway on Tuesday afternoon, even as passersby and local residents watched in horror. After a fight over a silly issue, Keerthi (24) of Huvinahalli Kaval village was murdered by his friend Ullas of Dodda Kanagal village in Alur taluk. What made the crime freakier was the fact that Ullas made a video of the scene of crime and uploaded it on social media, which went viral.

Ullas, who is said to be addicted to ganja, was riding the bike with Keerthi when the fight broke out. Angry Ullas stopped the motorcycle on the highway and murdered Keerthi by smashing his forehead with a boulder. Ullas escaped on the same motorcycle after the incident. A police team, led by DySp Srinidhi, visited the spot with a sniffer dog and launched a manhunt for the murderer.

Hassan residents alleged that the police have failed to control ganja that is coming in from neighbouring districts. Roadside canteens have turned into places where youngsters are buying ganja and also consuming it, they complained.

Human Rights

Human Rights - Awareness - Protection - Help

Human Rights are broadly comprised of civil, political, cultural and economic rights. Most important among them are right to equality and equal protection of law, right to life with dignity, without exploitation and in a healthy environment, liberty to pursue the profession of one's choice, to move and settle anywhere in India, freedom of conscience, belief and religion and freedom from untouchability or discrimination based on caste, creed or gender.

In order to protect and enforce human rights, the National Human Rights Commission and State Human Rights Commissions have been constituted under The Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993.

It is the duty of the State and all its agencies to protect Human Rights of every citizen. In case of violation of Human Rights in any manner by any office or agency of the State or failure to protect such rights, the victim or anyone else on his/her behalf can approach the Human Rights Commission for redress.

Procedure of filing complaints:

- Mobile App "Manava Hakku Rakshane" available on Google play store or
- KSHRC Website (https://kshrc.karnataka.gov.in) or
- HRC Net Portal (www.hrcnet.nic.in) or

Keep mum on power tussle: CM's warning to legislators

'Discipline, unity crucial, especially when Oppn is sharpening attack'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

IN a strongly-worded caution to his party MLAs, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Monday asked Congress legislators not to make any public or internal remarks about the sensitive issue of power sharing, warning that such statements only fuel unnecessary confusion within the party and government.

The directive came during the Congress Legislature Party (CLP) meeting, where the CM is learnt to have given a blunt message to his colleagues: "Stop discussing power-sharing arrangements. Do not create confusion by making loose statements."

Sources present in the meeting said Siddaramaiah emphasised that the leadership question should not become a public spectacle at a time when the government is preparing to face a high-stakes winter session. He reportedly told MLAs that discipline and unity are crucial, especially when the opposition is sharpening attack on the government.

Dispelling speculation of internal strife within Congress, former minister KN Rajanna said the CLP meeting focused on regional issues and upcoming House strategy, not on political power games.

Rajanna said, "We discussed the issues of North Karnataka and how our members should present them effectively in the legislature. The CM gave specific instructions to ministers and MLAs on how to face the Opposition and respond inside the House."

He asserted that the meeting allowed legislators to express their views freely, but no controversial political discussion took place.

On statements made by certain legislators outside the meeting, Rajanna added, "If any MLA says something outside, that is entirely their personal opinion. It is neither the party's stand nor the high command's view."

On speculation that he may switch to BJP, Rajanna said he has been a loyal party worker since 1969 and he would never jump ship.

Several MLAs asked the CM to release Rs 50 cr grants under the "CM' infrastructure development initiative" to expedite developmental works in their constituencies. The MLAs said they have been given partial grants partially and appealed to the government for the release of the entire tranche.

BJP UNLIKELY TO MOVE NO-CONFIDENCE MOTION

BJP, which reportedly had a plan to move a no-confidence motion against the Congress State Government harping on the tussle between CM Siddaramaiah and DyCM DK Shivakumar over change in leadership during the ongoing winter session, has dropped the idea. LoP in Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy told reporters on Tuesday that they had no plan at all. "If a government wins a no-confidence vote, the motion is considered defeated, and the incumbent administration remains in power, assured of the House's confidence for the subsequent six months, which is why the BJP has decided to drop the idea," sources told TNIE

CABINET MEETING IN BELAGAVI TO FOCUS ON NORTH KARNATAKA ISSUES

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

In a bold move to tackle decades of alleged regional neglect, Chief Secretary Shalini Rajneesh has fired off an urgent letter to all Principal Secretaries, Additional Chief Secretaries, and department heads— fast-track your files, because the next Cabinet meeting is being held in Belagavi smack in the middle of the winter Legislative session - and North Karnataka's long-ignored demands will take centre stage. Sources say the government is deliberately according "primacy" to issues from the northern districts in the Cabinet meeting. The trigger? The findings of the Regional Imbalances Commission, which exposed a glaring gap - whether it's hospitals, colleges, roads, or basic civic amenities, and said North Karnataka's infrastructure lags "far behind" the glittering facilities in Bengaluru and other southern regions. Cabinet sources hint that a flurry of North Karnataka-centric decisions - from new civic infrastructure, health , education, medical colleges to irrigation projects and industrial corridors - could get the green light in Belagavi itself.

Ruling, Opposition members clash over turban

The Legislative Council witnessed noisy scenes when Congress member Ramesh Babu taunted Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) members over their 'Maratha attire'. After Zero Hour, Ramesh Babu said the headgear worn by Leader of Opposition in the Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy and others resembled the turban sported by Maharastra Ekikaran activists. This enraged BJP members, who objected to his remarks. "This is the traditional turban worn by the people of Karnataka," Chalavadi Narayanaswamy said. When Congress and BJP members indulged in sloganeering, Council chairman Pranesh adjourned the House for lunch.

BJP netas, farmers detained during march to Soudha

TUSHAR MAJUKAR AND FIROZ ROZINDAR @ Belagavi

TENSION escalated in Belagavi on Tuesday as police detained several senior BJP leaders who were leading a massive protest against what they termed the Congress government's "anti-farmer" policies. The detentions took place near the highway in Halaga village, as protesters attempted to march towards Suvarna Vidhana Soudha. The day began with a large gathering at Malini City Maidan, where state BJP president BY Vijayendra, Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka, and Leader of the Opposition in the Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy addressed party workers and farmers.

Several MLAs, MLCs, and other senior BJP leaders also joined the demonstration, expressing solidarity with farmers from North Karnataka.

From the Maidan, protesters launched a rally towards Suvarna Vidhan Soudha, raising slogans against the government and demanding immediate intervention to resolve the ongoing agrarian crisis. As the rally advanced, a sizeable police contingent was deployed to prevent protesters from reaching the soudha.

The situation intensified when leaders and participants continued their march despite repeated warnings from the police. At Bali village in Halaga, police moved in to detain the leaders who were attempting to break security barricades and proceed toward the soudha.

Addressing the rally before his detention, Vijayendra said the protest was intended to "bring attention to the severe hardships being faced by farmers in North Karnataka." He added that the government's "indifference" had forced farmers to take to the streets. The protesters highlighted that maize farmers have long been demanding the opening of procurement centres. The BJP has vowed to continue its agitation until the State Government takes concrete steps to address farmers' grievances.

Chaos in Council

The Council, too, witnessed a heated debate between the Ruling and Opposition members while discussing the condition of farmers and the relief provided to them in Karnataka. BJP MLC CT Ravi alleged that the State Government has not established maize procurement centres to assist farmers. He also alleged that the ruling government has failed to give justifiable prices to the sugarcane farmers, even when the Centre had announced Rs 3,550 per tonne Fair and Remunerative Price (FRP) to sugarcane farmers. The information which irked the ruling MLCs, accused Ravi of giving half-truths and false information.

Sugar and APMC Minister Shivanand Patil said that the Centre has reduced the quantity of procuring maize for the production of ethanol.On the issue of FRP to sugarcane, Industries Minister MB Patil accused Ravi of misleading the House by giving only half the information. He said that Ravi should have informed the house that Rs 3,550 per tonne includes harvesting and transportation. If this is excluded, the amount will come to only around Rs 2,700 per tonne.

LoP in Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy alleged that the State Government is not coming to the rescue of the farmers and betraying them. He also said that it is the responsibility of the State government to take delegation to the Centres to get funds.

At this point, ministers Santosh Lad and Shivanand Patil angrily asked what the responsibility of the BJP MPs of Karnataka is. Amid the chaos, Deputy Chairman MK Pranesh adjourned the House till Wednesday.

₹1,722-CR DPR TO REPAIR, MODERNISE CANALS

The State Government has prepared a Rs 1,722-crore Detailed Project Report for repairing the Ghataprabha Right Bank Canal and modernising the Chikkodi Branch Canal, DyCM DK Shivakumar, who also holds the water resources portfolio, announced in the Assembly on Tuesday. Shivakumar said 1,35,381 hectares is being irrigated through the Ghataprabha Right Bank Main Canal. The DPR has been submitted to the Central Water Commission and is awaiting administrative approval. "If the Centre clears it, the project will be taken up under a 60:40 funding ratio between the Union and State. I have personally met the Union Jal Shakti Minister urging swift approval. Local MLAs and MPs must also mount pressure so that water can reach tail-end farmers," he said.

CM tells PM to approve MSP procurement of tur

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Chief Minister Siddaramaiah urged Prime Minister Narendra Modi to immediately approve MSP procurement of tur dal through National Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Federation (NAFED) and National Cooperative Consumers Federation (NCCE), and ensure immediate operational deployment across Karnataka's major procurement centers before peak arrivals begin.

Any further postponement at this critical juncture will inevitably lead to farmer unrest, price collapse, and a serious breakdown of trust in MSP as a viable public policy instrument, the Chief Minister said.

During the current kharif season (2025-26), tur dal has been sown across approximately 16.8 lakh hectares in Karnataka, with an expected production of over 12.60 lakh MT. The crop represents the backbone of income for farmers across major growing districts, including Kalaburagi, Yadgir, Bidar, Raichur, Vijayapura, Koppal, Belagavi, Ballari, Vijayanagara, Bagalkot, Kolar, Chikkaballapura, and Chitradurga districts that embody both the agrarian strength and resilience of the state, the CM said. Karnataka had submitted a formal proposal seeking immediate approval for MSP-based procurement of tur dal through NAFED and NCCF on November 6.

The CM stated that currently the market prices range between Rs 5,830 and Rs 6,700 per quintal, while the MSP announced for tur dal for 2025-26 stands at nearly Rs 8,000 per quintal. Peak arrivals are expected between December 2025 and January 2026, but the Union Government will open the procurement centres only in February and March. It is evident that farmers are staring at a serious income shock, unless timely and decisive intervention is undertaken by the Union Government, he added.

"When the market price falls below MSP, it is not merely a question of economics; it is a question of trust between the farmer and the state. Farmers have sown their crops trusting the MSP assurance given by the Centre. Every day of delay is pushing Karnataka's farmers closer to distress sales, debt traps and irreversible financial damage," the Chief Minister further added.

DKS blames Andhra, Maha for stalling UKP

The Karnataka government has blamed Maharashtra and Andhra Pradesh govts for the continued delay in the implementation of Upper Krishna Project (UKP) III stage project in the Krishna basin. While slamming the two states for blocking the projects for more than a decade, DyCM DK Shivakumar, who also holds the water resources portfolio, hit out at the Centre, too, for failing to issue the mandatory notification on UKP-III since 2013. Shivakumar was responding to MLAs during the Question Hour in Assembly. Shivakumar launched a scathing attack on inflated land prices. "A plot worth Rs 10 lakh is being granted Rs 10 crore. Lawyers and officials have colluded. I will not allow this mafia. We will protect Karnataka's interests," he said.

DKS slams Centre, says it is betraying farmers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

KARNATAKA Deputy CM DK Shivakumar launched a sharp attack on the Union Government, accusing it of "betraying farmers" by refusing to procure their crops. Speaking to reporters at Sambra Airport, Belagavi, on Tuesday, Shivakumar said the Centre must be held accountable for withholding dues owed to Karnataka.

"The Centre is not purchasing farmers produce. Instead of staging protests here, the Opposition should exert pressure on the Centre to start procurement," he said. Responding to BJP-led protests, Shivakumar asserted that the State Government has consistently stood with farmers. "We have already begun the procurement of sugarcane and maize. We have issued clear instructions to support farmers. But the Fair and Remunerative Price is fixed by the Union Government," he said.

Shivakumar criticised the state BJP for targeting the State Government instead of questioning the Centre. "The BJP should protest against the Union Government. Fighting against us is meaningless when the real decisions lie with Delhi," he said. The DyCM reiterated that Karnataka expects the Centre to release the pending funds due to the state, adding that the delay has affected key programmes and support mechanisms for farmers.

BJP's sudden love for farmers is pure hypocrisy, says Laxmi

Women and Child Development Minister Laxmi Hebbalkar accused the BJP of displaying "sudden affection" for farmers despite its past record of neglect and brutality.

Reacting to BJP's statewide demonstrations, Laxmi said, "The BJP seems to have suddenly developed compassion for farmers. Let them first release a list of what they have actually done for farmers. They should be ashamed."

Karnataka will be top investment destination, says minister MB Patil

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS @ Belagavi

MINISTER for Large and Medium Scale Industries MB Patil said Karnataka will be the best place for business in the country, considering the competition among various states.

Replying to a question by MLC Keshav Prasad (BJP) in the Legislative Council, he said the State Government has to be serious about industrial clearance, considering the tough competition among states to attract investors. The government is adopting the best policies to encourage investments. "There is cut-throat contest to woo investors. Gujarat, Andhra Pradesh and Maharashtra are pitching for investors, and we cannot be left behind," he said.

Patil said 'Invest beyond Bengaluru' aims at the overall development of industries and all clearances will be done swiftly. "Everybody is moving from 'invest with ease' to 'fastest investment'. We are offering incentives in districts other than Bengaluru, and are in discussions with several foreign companies for investments," he said, adding the state has made land acquisition and purchase simple.

"Earlier, we had single-window clearance for investments, but actually there were multiple windows. We have amended the rules in favour of investors. They can get NOCs and other clearances based on self-declarations. We are adopting some of the best practices of other states. The change will begin in three months," he said. The state has come out with Karnataka Clean Mobility Policy 2025-2030 and Karnataka Defence Policy 2022-27. It has cleared 1,888 projects in three years and is expecting investments of up to ₹5.02 lakh crore.

Separate helpline needed for state: MLA

A separate vertical has been created in the Home Department with a DGP-rank officer as its head, which is first of its kind in the country, he said. Cement Manju said the 1930 toll-free number set up by the Central government has several problems related to language. By the time a person gets the language right, the golden hour to recover the stolen amount would have been lost. A separate number for the state should be launched, he said, but the minister did not find it necessary at this juncture.

On controlling online betting and games, Parameshwara said the changes brought by the state government to the Police Act was challenged by the Gaming Federation in the court and it brought in a stay. The Centre has also passed an Act to control online gaming platforms which has also been stayed in the court. The next hearing is on December 19, the minister added.

BJP member Sunil Kumar said betting is going on over the change in leadership and who would be the next CM.

Biligiriranga Hills to be developed

ENS @ Belagavi

THE Biligiri Ranganatha Hill in Chamarajanagar district will be developed at ₹5.75 crore, said Tourism Minister HK Patil, responding to a question raised by Kollegal MLA AR Krishnamurthy.

Patil said the Tourism Department has already completed ground-levelling work around the temple by spending ₹1 crore. The project includes construction of a bus-stand, observation towers, a dining area, and other infrastructure, with a detailed conceptual report for ₹5.75 crore. Work has already started on the construction of stairs, and concrete roads have been laid on the Kalyani Road and Rath Street at ₹1.05 crore.

The seers and leaders of the Golla community of Chitradurga district have urged the Congress high command and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to give a ministerial berth to MLC DT Srinivas in the forthcoming cabinet expansion. Yadav Mutt seer Krishna Yadavananda Swamy said Srinivas is the only MLC representing the Kadugolla and Golla Yadav community

65 tmcft water lost to silt in dams

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru:

CLOSE to 65 tmcft of storage capacity in major reservoirs has been lost to siltation. This means that every year, 65 tmcft of water that could have been stored, is wasted across reservoirs in the Cauvery and Krishna basins. This quantity of water is nearly three times Bengaluru's annual water requirement of over 22tmcft.

Karnataka has 14 major reservoirs, including KR Sagar, Malaprabha, Bhadra, Harangi, Kabini, Almatti, Tungabhadra, Hemavathy and others. In an unstarred question by Congress MLA Dr Ajay Dharam Singh, Deputy CM and Water Resources Minister DK Shivakumar replied that they don't have any programme to remove silt. He said there are no specific guidelines to remove silt from reservoirs, and neither is there a coordination programme between the Central and State governments. Tungabhadra has 31.6 tmcft of silt, Narayanapura has 10.55 tmcft, Almatti 7.5 tmcft and Ghataprabha has 4.9 tmcft.

Reservoirs that come under Krishna Bhagya Jal Nigam, Visvesvaraya Jal Nigam and others are surveyed by Karnataka Engineering Research Centre.

The Central Water Commission had recommended a survey of silt in reservoirs once in five years. In many state reservoirs, survey was done from 2008 to 2019.

Over time, as silt starts accumulating, the live storage capacity comes down and water overflows, leading to water loss. Silt accumulation is not uniform, and removing it is not economically viable.

Former irrigation secretary and water expert Captain Raja Rao told TNIE that silt accumulation is a natural process which cannot be avoided. "Silt accumulation in reservoirs of the Cauvery basin is less compared to Krishna basin reservoirs, because Cauvery reservoirs have forests or many trees nearby. This prevents silt entering dams, whereas near Krishna basin reservoirs, there are few trees. Also, mining is a major issue here," he explained. There is a need to grow more trees, which can prevent silt to a large extent, he added.

A senior water resource department official said removing silt is a tedious process, as water has to be pumped out before silt can be removed. "To dump the silt, they need acres of land, which is not available in and around dams. For this, they have to place pipes for longer distances, water has to be pumped out through these pipes. It is expensive. The Odisha government tried it in Hirakud reservoir, but failed," he said.

PSBs' write-off equals twice the guarantees amount: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Tuesday criticised the Union government and Prime Minister Narendra Modi, alleging that Public Sector Banks (PSBs) have written off Rs 6.15 lakh crore in loans over the past five years.

Expressing displeasure in a post on his 'X' account, Siddaramaiah cited data from the Union Finance ministry, saying PSBs have written off Rs 6,15,647 crore, which comes to an average of Rs 1,23,129 crore per year. "This amount is more than double the annual cost of Karnataka's welfare-oriented Guarantee Schemes," he said. Karnataka's guarantee schemes cost around Rs 60,000 crore per year.

The CM slammed BJP leaders who he said "lecture us for supporting the common people while quietly enabling a system that writes off astronomical sums for rich corporates". He demanded that the people and nation deserve answers on how much of these write-offs belong to companies linked to PM Modi's close friends.

He also questioned how many beneficiaries had generously donated to the BJP through Electoral Bonds.

The CM asked how much of the written-off amount from 2014-2020 had actually been recovered. "Before targeting welfare programmes that empower the poor, BJP must explain why public money is being used to cushion the failures of its favourite corporate defaulters. This is not fiscal prudence. This is political patronage at the cost of the poor," Siddaramaiah alleged.

Youth believe AI knows all, can be trusted: Study

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MORE than half of young Indians surveyed believe that Artificial Intelligence "knows everything" and can be trusted like a parent or teacher, highlighting the growing risks of misinformation and hidden bias in AI systems.

A survey of 2,500 ITI and secondary school students revealed that 52.24 per cent of girls and 53.37 per cent of boys viewed generative AI chatbots as all-knowing entities, while 55.6 per cent of girls and 47.5 per cent of boys believed chatbots always give correct answers. Experts warned such high levels of trust make young people vulnerable to manipulation and algorithmic bias.

These findings set the tone for the opening day of the Quest 2 Learn (Q2L) Summit 2025, organised by Quest Alliance and held on Tuesday at the Quest Learning Observatory in Bengaluru. Under the theme 'Beyond the AI Hype: Building Radical Futures of Hope with Young People', participants raised concerns about unequal access to AI.

A key highlight of the day was the launch of India's first Youth AI Charter, authored by young people to demand stronger data rights, greater agency and a direct role in shaping AI ecosystems.

Speakers repeatedly stressed that AI is not neutral. Panelists noted that large AI models are largely trained on Western data and value systems.

"If training data ignores communities like ours, the intelligence built on it will ignore us too," one speaker said.

BWSSB WINS GEOSPATIAL EXCELLENCE AWARD FOR JALAPATHA

Bengaluru: The Bengaluru Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) has won the Geospatial Excellence Award for Water Management for its GIS-based utility asset management platform, Jalapatha, at the GeoSmart India-2025 conference held in New Delhi. The award, presented during the conference's closing plenary session, was received by BWSSB Chairman Ram Prasath Manohar. Speaking after the event, Manohar said the recognition reflects BWSSB's commitment to "scientific, technology-led water governance for a growing Bengaluru". He said the award recognises BWSSB's efforts in geospatial mapping, asset digitisation and real-time data integration, which have helped centralise thousands of water and sewerage assets onto a unified platform, improving planning, monitoring and maintenance efficiency. BWSSB has announced that Jalapatha will soon enter its next phase, with advanced geospatial analytics, predictive maintenance tools and real-time project monitoring. ENS

Devanahalli special agri zone, no bar on land sale

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government has declared 1,777 acres of land in Devanahalli taluk as a Permanent Special Agricultural Zone (PSAZ) and farmers need not be misled by rumours. "They have the freedom to sell their land and there are no restrictions," said S Selvakumar, Principal Secretary, Department of Industries.

A press release said the government has declared 1,777 acres across 13 villages in Channarayapatna hobli, Devanahalli taluk, as a PSAZ. He was reacting to reports in certain quarters claiming that farmers' right to sell their land had been curtailed. Farmers here had expressed their desire to continue agriculture, and the government had responded positively. "Our intention is to prevent real-estate misuse of agricultural land and stop developers from exploiting farmers. We have not stripped farmers of their right to sell land," he said. Earlier, the land near Devanahalli was earmarked for establishing an Aerospace Park.

"The government has withdrawn the acquisition plan and reserved the area exclusively for agriculture. As a PSAZ, it offers enhanced benefits to farmers, and may attract investment into agriculture as well. The government has assured that infrastructure for agriculture development will be provided. Farmers can benefit from high-yield seeds, cold storage facilities, organic farming, modern agricultural technologies, elimination of middlemen, improved soil and water management, direct market access, e-trading and digital marketplaces. They will also receive special tax exemptions for farms and agri-startups, and faster approvals for agribusiness projects," he said.

DCM DK Shivakumar on Tuesday said the long-delayed Nagarabetta Lift Irrigation Project, intended to irrigate 3,200 hectares, will be inaugurated by March 2026. A special task force will be formed to speed up pending works. The Hemavathi Left Bank distributary canals will be upgraded at a cost of Rs 110 crore. Eight canals have already been developed, he said

YATHINDRA'S REMARK ON CM IRKS DKS SUPPORTERS

Siddu reportedly warns son against remarks while House in session

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah's son Dr Yathindra's statement on Monday that his father will complete five years as the chief minister has created ripples within the Congress. While it irked Deputy CM DK Shivakumar's camp, some legislators who were neutral to both the camps felt it embarrassing.

Some sources said Siddaramaiah on Monday advised Yathindra to not issue such statements on leadership change as the joint session of the legislature was in business and it would give fodder to the opposition parties to attack the government. Meanwhile, some other sources denied that Siddaramaiah advised his son against the statement. However, it became a hot topic as to whether Yathindra's statement was a deliberate one to send out a message to Shivakumar's camp.

The DKS camp is in the hope that the high command would summon both him and Siddaramaiah after the Assembly session and strongly believes that there will be a change in leadership in mid January 2026. The Siddaramaiah camp, meanwhile, strongly believe that the party high command would give green signal for the cabinet reshuffle after Sankranti festival.

MLC Yathindra Siddaramaiah at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

On Tuesday, Yathindra said he had nothing more to add as he had said whatever he wanted to. Shivakumar said that he did not go deep into Yathindra's statement but will speak to the latter. Law Minister HK Patil suggested that every leader should follow the party's discipline. Shivakumar's aide and Ramanagara MLA Hussain asked Yathindra not to play the role of the high command.

However, Urban Development Minister Byrati Suresh indirectly said that the former calls the shots if the question on change in leadership arises. There was also a difference of opinions within the ruling Congress as to who will be the ideological heir of Siddaramaiah. Suresh, PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi and MLC BK Hariprasad are allegedly divided in their opinions. Suresh said Siddaramaiah still calls the shots and there is no need to talk about his political heir, a source said. Reacting to Yathindra's remark, Suresh said, "He has expressed his personal view. Both Siddaramaiah and DK Shivakumar have said they abide by the high command's decision."

On whether Satish Jarkiholi could take over AHINDA leadership, the minister said the Chikkodi strongman may indeed be suitable, but "even that decision has to be taken by Siddaramaiah. Right now, the question doesn't arise". Suresh said Siddaramaiah remains the undisputed leader of the AHINDA movement and that no discussion on leadership change exists within the party. "Siddaramaiah is our leader for AHINDA and for the government. He is very much here. Tiger Zinda Hai, The king is alive," Suresh said, responding to comments from BK Hariprasad and a few others about who should lead AHINDA in the future.

Govt has 2.8L vacancies, admits Siddaramaiah

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

IN a candid admission before the House, the Siddaramaiah government on Tuesday admitted what citizens already feel every day - Karnataka is governed by a skeletal staff. A staggering 2.8 lakh sanctioned posts lie vacant, crippling public services from classrooms to hospitals.

The numbers laid bare are brutal. The primary education department has a jaw-dropping 79,600 vacancies – the single biggest black hole. The health and medical education department has 37,000 posts vacant, while in the higher education department, 13,600 posts of lecturers are unfilled.

CM Siddaramaiah at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha on Tuesday | EXPRESS

The animal husbandry department has 11,000 posts vacant, while the unfilled posts in backward classes welfare department is 8,500, finance department 7,600, law and human rights department 7,600, agriculture department 6,800, forest department 6,400, DPAR 6,000, cooperation department 4,700 and women and child development department 3,300.

That is nearly three lakh ghost posts in a state that loves to boast about its "model governance". The Opposition accused the Congress government of "negligence" for children taught by guest teachers, patients turned away from understaffed hospitals and farmers left without extension officers, while the government splurges on guarantees.

The ministers are offering the usual excuses – "recruitment is in process", "KPSC delays", "budget constraints" – but the truth is that Karnataka has been advertising "permanent jobs" for years while quietly running the state on contract and outsourced staff. With the next Assembly elections just two years away, the government appears to have handed the Opposition its sharpest weapon.

Youth injured in leopard attack in Mandya

PICTURE FOR REPRESENTATION

Mandya: A youth was injured in a leopard attack while riding a bike in the Kattarghatta village limits of KR Pet taluk. Kiran, son of Satish, a farmer from the village, was injured in a leopard attack and is receiving treatment at the town's government hospital. Kiran suffered injuries in face, hands and legs. On Monday 8.30 pm, Kiran was riding his bike from his hometown Kattarghatta to his grandmother's house in nearby Bandihole village when a leopard pounced on him on the outskirts of Kattarghatta. As a result, Kiran fell off the bike. When the leopard jumped on the bike and attacked, it tore off chunks of flesh from his face and hands and legs, leaving Kiran unconscious. Fortunately, the leopard that jumped on the bike also got scared and fled without attacking him again. After regaining consciousness, Kiran called his friend Sagar and asked for help. The injured Kiran was immediately admitted to the town's government hospital and was treated.

Forest officials arrange a safari vehicle to ferry schoolkids who had to walk 14 km to reach school in Pachedoddi village in Hanur taluk of Chamarajanagar district | EXPRESS

14 km trek to school: Forest dept comes to the aid of kids

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

DAYS after TNIE carried a report titled 'No buses, roads, students walk 14km to school and back' highlighting the ordeal of students of Pachedoddi village in Hanur taluk of Chamarajanagar district forced to walk 14 km daily due to the absence of transport and proper road connectivity, the MM Wildlife Division has stepped in with immediate relief.

EXPRESS IMPACT

Forest officials arranged a safari vehicle on Tuesday to ferry students from Pachedoddi and surrounding hamlets to their schools in the morning and bring them back in the evening. Speaking to TNIE, MM Wildlife Division DCF Bhaskar B said the department acted swiftly. "Earlier, there was a similar initiative, but it had been discontinued. We have now revived it. I have also informed the Deputy Commissioner, who has agreed to provide a permanent vehicle soon. Until then, the safari vehicle will be used to transport the students," he said.

The timely intervention has brought much-needed respite to the students, who have long struggled with the lack of basic transport facilities.

Controversy erupts over damage to heritage pillar at Hampi

The damaged remains of the pillar near the underground Shiva Temple in Hampi

A fresh controversy erupted at the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Hampi after a local activist filed a police complaint alleging that a historic pillar near the underground Shiva Temple was damaged and later made to disappear during an ASI restoration project.

T Shivakumar, resident of Kamalapur, who also serves as the Vijayanagara district president of the Karnataka Rakshana Vedike Janasena alleged that a stone pillar belonging to the Vijayanagara Empire era was broken by machines during the construction of a sidewall under the ASI-led restoration works.

Shivakumar said that he had alerted the ASI on December 2 about the use of heavy machinery and the suspected damage to heritage stones. "No action was taken. Later, the very same pillar was not only broken but has now gone missing. ASI officials must be questioned," he said in his complaint. A photograph circulated by locals appears to show the damaged remains of the pillar lying near the underground Shiva Temple, further fuelling public concern over the safety of the site's centuries-old structures.

HC asks CS, ADGP to appear on Dec 17

JEGADEESWARI PANDIAN
@Madurai

REFUSING Tamil Nadu's request to adjourn the contempt petition filed over non-compliance of order directing lighting of Karthigai Deepam on the Deepathoon atop Thiruparankundram hill, the Madurai Bench of the Madras High Court on Tuesday directed the Tamil Nadu Chief Secretary and Additional Director General of Police (Law and Order) to appear before it through video-conference at the next hearing on December 17. Justice GR Swaminathan also issued statutory notice to Madurai collector KJ Praveen Kumar, Madurai police commissioner J Loganathan, and executive officer of Thiruparankundram Subramaniya Swamy Temple Yagna Narayanan.

He further issued statutory notice to Deputy Commissioner of Police (Madurai South) AG Inigo Divyan, who allegedly prevented the petitioners from implementing the order on December 4 despite a direction to commissioner Loganathan to ensure compliance. At the request of the petitioner, Rama Ravikumar, the judge also impleaded Union Home Secretary in the case and issued notice to him, adding that based on the response of the chief secretary and ADGP, he may seek inputs from Union Home Secretary.

Another contempt petition filed by S Paramasivam, one of the four petitioners whose petition was also allowed by the December 1 order, was admitted and posted along with Ravikumar's plea.

During the hearing on Tuesday, senior counsels representing the state sought an adjournment by informing that the appeals against the main order dated December 1 are going to be heard by the division bench on December 12.

Ten Bangladeshis get two years for illegal entry

UDUPI: A Udupi court has sentenced 10 Bangladeshi nationals to two years imprisonment in a case registered at the Malpe police station for illegal entry and possession of forged identity documents. According to the police, on October 11, 2024, PSI Praveen Kumar R of the Malpe Police Station, who was on rounds, spotted seven men moving suspiciously with luggage near the Malpe Vadabhandeshwara bus stop. On questioning, it was found that they had illegally entered India from Bangladesh without valid documents and had allegedly created fake Aadhaar cards using false information. The group had reportedly travelled to Hoode in Paduthonse village of Udupi taluk. During the investigation, the Circle Inspector of Police, Malpe Circle, arrested three more illegal immigrants, bringing the total number of accused to 10.

Actor assault case verdict leaked a week earlier

P RAMDAS @Kochi

RAISING serious concerns bout judicial confidentiality in the 2017 actor abduction and a sexual assault case, a top advocacy body on Tuesday confirmed it had received an anonymous letter detailing the crucial content of the verdict in the case, a week before it was pronounced.

Dated December 2, the letter, sent by "an Indian citizen", claimed that "the upcoming verdict scheduled for December 8, 2025, in the high-profile case would exclude seventh accused Charly Thomas, eighth accused Gopalakrishnan alias Dileep,and the ninth accused Sanilkumar alias Mesthiri Sanil", and that judgment-would be delivered only against the remaining six accused.The letter was sent to the Kerala High Court Advocates' Association which forwarded it to the Chief Justice on December 8, the same day the Ernakulam District and Principal Sessions Court pronounced its order. Association president Yeshwanth Shenoy confirmed to TNIE that the association has received the letter and that it has been forwarded to the Chief Justice for appropriate action. Describing the situation as a potential "serious breach of confidentiality", Shenoy stressed that an inquiry ought to be initiated to determine how such sensitive information could have leaked.

It alleged that "Judge Honey M Varghese prepared the judgment through her close associate, Shirley, and, by showing it to Sharath, a hotel businessman and the close companion of the 8th accused, secured a deal, and is going to pronounce this order on December 8." The letter claimed that "two senior Kerala High Court judges and another judge, who is in charge of Ernakulam district, have extended support to her, which is what encourages the sessions judge to engage in such acts that undermine justice".

Vande Bharat from Bengaluru to Ernakulam carries 55k pax

INDRA S @ Bengaluru

The KSR Bengaluru–Ernakulam–Bengaluru Vande Bharat Express service, flagged off by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on November 11, has received a huge response in its first month of operation, with bookings crossing 100% of its passenger capacity in both directions and more than 55,000 passengers travelling so far.

The train is the first interstate semi high speed premium train connecting the southern states of Kerala, Tamil Nadu, and Karnataka. In November, the Bengaluru–Ernakulam service carried 11,447 passengers with an average booking of 127%. In December, it carried 16,129 passengers with an average booking of 117%, according to data from South Western Railways (SWR), Bengaluru Division. The Ernakulam–Bengaluru service carried 12,786 passengers in November, with an average booking of 141%. In December, the number rose to 14,742, with 106% average booking, the data showed.

The Railways calculates occupancy as the total number of bookings, including the waiting list. This means if there are 100 available seats and 27 bookings fall under the waiting list, it treats the occupancy as 127%. The SWR is expecting a growth in demand for tickets on the train in December because of Christmas and New Year vacations, as well as Sabarimala pilgrimage. The train is a popular choice among daily commuters, business travellers, students and tourists, railway officials said.

AP DCM deplores DMK's move to impeach HC judge

Vijayawada: Andhra Pradesh Deputy Chief Minister Pawan Kalyan has sharply criticised the move by the INDIA bloc MPs, led by the DMK, to impeach a sitting High Court judge, terming it a blatant attempt to intimidate the judiciary for delivering a judgment that upheld long-standing Hindu religious practices. In a strongly worded statement on Tuesday, Pawan Kalyan described the development as "threatening the judiciary in the name of pseudo secularism," warning that the selective use of constitutional provisions against judges sets a dangerous precedent and undermines judicial independence. He questioned why impeachment is being sought now, when the verdict has protected Hindu traditions, while past judgments that disrupted centuries-old customs did not trigger such extreme measures.

'Menstrual leave notice violates natural justice'

THEY also contended that the Labour Department, instead of leaving it to the employers to decide appropriately on granting of menstrual leave as part of their human resource policies, has unnecessarily interfered in the affairs of the employers. If at all the government wanted to introduce menstrual leave, it would have had to amend the related statutes.' The state has issued a preliminary notification inviting objections from the stakeholders, proposing menstrual leave. Hence, the notice in question was issued in violation of principles of natural justice. Granting such a leave is likely to cause additional financial burden, depending upon the size of female employees and may cause serious civil consequences. Employers should be consulted before bringing such a policy, the petitioners argued.

They stated that Clause 9 of the Model Standing Orders appended to the Karnataka Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Rules mandates the employer to provide leave with pay as provided under the Factories Act and other holidays in accordance with law, contract, custom and usage.

Further, Clause 10 of the Model Standing Orders provides for casual leave, and a workman may be granted casual leave of absence with or without pay, not exceeding 10 days in a calendar year.

"Technology does not act as a kind of traffic policeman that is distinct in nature from the traffic it directs" — Wiebe Bijker

INDIAN EXPRESS IS NOT AN INDUSTRY. IT IS A MISSION.

— Ramnath Goenka

ROBUST FUNDAMENTALS SHOULD TRIGGER BETTER BUSINESS GROWTH

A year-end survey has shown that the Indian economy has stood fairly resilient in the face of headwinds, but the checklist is a mix of hits and misses. The all-important services sector accelerated in November this year on the back of robust domestic demand, thus recovering lost ground from the previous month. However, export growth slipped to an 8-month low in the face of high US tariffs and rising global competition. The India Services Purchasing Managers' Index, compiled by S&P Global, inched up to 59.8 last month from October's 58.9. This is well above the neutral mark of 50, which separates expansion from contraction, and reflects sustained resilience. However, the Composite Index, which combines manufacturing and services, eased slightly to 59.7 in November from 60.4 in October, primarily due to a slowdown in manufacturing activity.

The worry is that even though the index remains comfortably above the 50-mark, a decline for three consecutive months suggests India's economy may be losing momentum. The data indicates despite a rise in company outputs, job growth remained muted. Around 95 percent of the firms surveyed reported no change in payroll numbers, indicating they did not face any pressure on existing capacity and that pending work was on a plateau. Simultaneously, business confidence for the 12 months ahead slipped to its lowest since July 2022, as companies turned cautious in the face of turbulent geopolitics.

The overcautious, risk-averse approach of businesses is probably hurting growth even though the fundamentals seem positive. The sharp uptake of the services sector shows there is strong domestic demand even though the export environment is cloudy. The PMI figures show input price inflation has reached its lowest rate in 5 years since August 2020, except for small increases in electricity, food, and software. This kept selling prices at an 8-month low, and in turn, stoked consumer demand. It is this trend that has encouraged the Reserve Bank to lower lending rates by 25 basis points. The various pointers should not be crimping business confidence; rather, with low inflation and high domestic demand, now is the time to boost investment and capacity in manufacturing, and generating more jobs. Businesses are built on informed risk-taking and it is time the government put its shoulders behind growth-focused entrepreneurship.

HOCKEY TROUBLES GO BEYOND COACHING FAILS

LAST week was not the best of times for Indian hockey, both on and off the field. First came the exit of Harendra Singh, head coach of the women's senior team, following his unimpressive stint and allegations of high-handedness. Singh took over after Janneke Schopman resigned following a tumultuous few months, during which India failed to qualify for the 2024 Olympics after finishing fourth in an eight-team competition at Rourkela, followed by a dismal run at the FIH Pro League in India. It culminated in an emotional outburst by the Dutch coach against the system, which included her co-employer Hockey India. Weeks later, Singh, who had coached the women's team earlier, took over. However, favourable results kept eluding the team.

Under Singh, the women finished last among nine teams in the FIH Pro-League, losing 11 of the 16 matches they played. Coaching definitely seems to be an issue, but HI and the Sports Authority, which pays for coaches, must introspect beyond this, too. The same set of players has been playing under both coaches. Perhaps it's time to overhaul the entire system. Team performances are about more than the coach and support staff's work. With the Asian Games less than a year away, and a direct spot for the 2028 Olympics on offer for the gold medallist, it becomes even more critical that the women's team finds its bearing soon.

To make matters worse for Indian hockey, on Sunday, the junior men's team crashed out of the Junior World Cup, losing 1-5 to Germany. One worry was the way the team performed once they progressed from a relatively easy group. Even against Belgium, the hosts needed a shoot-off to secure a semifinal berth. Against Germany, the junior side looked like novices, both in skill and physicality. The focus is on P R Sreejesh, who was appointed head coach just after winning his second medal at the Olympics last year. The HI has made sure that the new coach gets everything he needed. Though the former India goalkeeper has shown his acumen as a mentor, there is a lot of scope to learn. With HI elections due next year, India's performance could be a factor deciding the future of the office-bearers, too. That's what would make for a wholesale overhaul.

QUICK TAKE

SEARCHING NEW PRIORITIES

LIKE most years, Google's list of 2025's most-searched terms revealed that, above all, we Indians looked for entertainment—and we expected a lot of it from cricket. Not only did three cricket tournaments feature among the top four searches across categories, cricketers also claimed all the top five people lookups. The Philippines and Georgia appeared among the most-considered destinations, perhaps reflecting tighter budgets and a level of West-wariness. But the zeitgeist was grimly reflected in ceasefire, mock drill, and mayday making it to the top meanings we looked up. We hope that next year, air quality will overtake earthquake as the topmost concern in the 'near me' category. Maybe then we'll make an effort to move the political needle on pollution.

The West views the Anthropocene era, in which man is destroying Earth, through economic cost-benefit analyses. A conference paper offered an alternative approach through new storytelling

A SHAMAN WHO SHATTERED THE LENS ON ANTHROPOCENE

MANDAR PARDIKAR

THE big problem with information today is not noise, but silence. The latter is the most eloquent part of a lecture. Yet, one never asks about the kind of violence that precedes every part of a story.

My next-door neighbour, a sociologist, recently commented, "Why is everyone talking about development when they should be talking about the Anthropocene? Silence needs a new kind of storytelling." It reminded me about a Pakistani social scientist who talked at length about a conference.

I once met Ziauddin Sardar, the well-known futurist, at Perth airport. We had three hours to kill. He was returning from a conference, and I from visiting relatives. Zia was a wonderful gossip and even more entertaining as a social scientist. He was a genuine South Asian. He wrote the most interesting article on the Ambassador car—I wish Ratan Tata had read it before he introduced the Nano.

On this day in Perth, Zia was waiting to gossip—not just about the conference, but about his old colleagues and friends in India. He felt gossip was disappearing. And gossip, he felt, made eccentricity and dissent available. This is what he felt made India of the 1970s so interesting. Zia desperately missed his colleagues at the Centre for the Study of Developing Societies. India, he felt, had become rigid and straightforward. He felt that the present regime had added to the mediocrity, destroying India's sense of play and dissent.

I asked Zia about the changes. He sat silently for a while, drinking his coffee. Then he said that today, the future is an extrapolation, regimented into a straight line of expectations. Earlier, the future was a domain of dissent and diversity. The future is a pretext for freedom—an invitation to the Homo ludens, the human as a player. Zia explained that earlier, such conferences were full of oddballs, marginals who ambushed you with new ideas. The future was open-ended and inclusive. Over the next three hours, he proceeded to describe the three-day conference he had been part of.

The first day was a meeting of knowledge and power, demonstrating the competence of policy. There was only one interesting paper, from South Africa. It talked about Islam in general and believed that India could add a new kind of Islamic imagination to the future.

The second day focused on the basic theme of the conference: the Anthropocene. The word 'Anthropocene' was coined by Dutch scientist Paul J Crutzen. He believed it's a new geological era during which human activity has been the dominant influence on climate and the environment. Crutzen wanted to create the picture of a wounded Earth—damaged by a promethean man. The Anthropocene was a statement of guilt.

Unfortunately, the debate got involved in dates. Dutch scientist Wiebe Bijker felt that assigning dates to the era had become an obsession. The question was whether to date the Anthropocene to the beginning of the Spanish conquest, which eliminated a million indigenous people, or to locate it at the Industrial Revolution. Today, many prefer to locate it with the birth of the atom bomb.

Zia said, regardless of the dates, what the dating did was remove the question of guilt—the fact that Earth was being destroyed by man. He added that two earlier papers that had discussed the Anthropocene were purely economic exercises, where climate change became a battle between the centre and the periphery.

But the next paper ambushed the conference. It was by a shaman serving as a lecturer at a local university. The shaman's speech was electric, as if it was an afterthought brought into the conference. He said that what futurology lacked was the quality of storytelling, the ability to create a new myth for the Anthropocene.

The Western idea of Anthropocene was an incomplete myth—it talked of Prometheus, but it had no sense of an alternative. The myth one needed to destroy was the idea of economics, which is centred around the 'noise' called consumption. Zia said it's economics as a myth that upholds the West, which gives it a sense of the sacred, as being the centre.

Ideas like sustainability are poor substitutes for myth-making. You need to question the very sense of the 18th-century economist, Adam Smith, and locate genocide at the very beginning of economics. The shaman added that this process was politely called 'development'. Development needed to be retold, and for that, maybe his colleagues could read Austrian philosopher Ivan Illich. He added that to question development was to rewrite the very history of the West.

Myths, said the shaman, had to make us relive and rethink to create a new sacrament that would make us retell the story of the forest as a sea. The Anthropocene, the shaman noted with sadness, lacked the poetics of rethinking. It was a myth that needed to be relived—but not through the obscenity of climate change, which was merely a cost-benefit analysis.

Earth had to come to life. Science had to acquire a sense of the sacred. One needed a new kind of storytelling, new rituals to redeem Earth. The West, the shaman quietly said, had no language for it. Enlightenment was a poverty-stricken philosophy that had no empathy for the sky or the tree.

The shaman spoke quietly, but effectively. The West, he said, was smothered in formaldehyde. One needed to begin with a prayer, an invocation of new cosmologies and new epistemologies, a new sense of ethics for the West and the rest. The conference came to a halt.

Zia chuckled as he recited the story. The shaman, who called for storytellers more than statisticians, challenged the conference to think of the forest as an epistemology—of a tree as the cosmos.

The airport announcements were reminding us that time was running out. Zia and I agreed to meet next year. I suddenly asked him: what happened to the shaman? Zia smiled and said he disappeared into his community after the conference.

Zia left to catch his flight and I moved on to tell the story to as many of my colleagues as possible.

PERILS OF AN UNCHECKED NARRATIVE

PRAVEEN CHAKRAVARTY

Chairman, All India Professionals' Congress and AICC Data Analytics Department

ACCORDING to some scholars, the worst tragedy in human history was an outcome of a misleading media narrative. Responding to the Allied Forces' terms of surrender in July 1945, Japan's prime minister used the word 'mokusatsu' to mean 'silence'. Western media mischievously interpreted it to mean 'ignore'. Enraged, the US president decided to bomb Hiroshima and Nagasaki to devastation. It triggered a nuclear arms race that the world is still suffering from.

Misleading narratives in quest for sensational headlines can wreak havoc. The 2025 Bihar election outcome is a case in point. Nearly every political leader and policymaker in the country believes that the cash scheme of ₹10,000 to a woman in every family, announced by Prime Minister Narendra Modi just two months before the election, was the game-changer.

As a result, this will further intensify the race among parties in other states to distribute 'cash for women' in the belief that it is the magic bullet. This competitive populism can send the entire nation spiralling down a path to eventual fiscal catastrophe, political emptiness, and social disorder. Worse, this is a false narrative much like the 'mokusatsu' misinterpretation.

Contrary to the Election Commission's boast that women's turnout percentage in the 2025 election was the highest in 75 years, it was nothing extraordinary in number. About 1.4 crore women voted in the 2010 Bihar election, 1.9 crore in 2015, 2.1 crore in 2020 (Covid year), and 2.5 crore in 2025. If a student scores 75/100 (75 percent) one year and 77/90 (86 percent) the next, her score has only increased marginally; but her percentage increase looks much higher because the denominator is lower. This is exactly what happened with the EC's women turnout percentage. Due to the cleaning up of voter lists through the special intensive revision, the denominator of total women electors was smaller than it would have been otherwise and inflating the turnout percentage.

Yes, for the first time, slightly more women than men voted, but that is as much a result of fewer-than-expected men voting due to male migration out of Bihar than any sudden increase in women voters. The women's turnout in this election was merely a continuation of previous trends and was neither extraordinary nor sudden.

It is not even the case that women voters, lured by the cash scheme, shifted their support en masse from the opposition Mahagathbandhan alliance to the ruling NDA. The percentage of women who voted for the opposition MGB in both the 2020 and 2025 election was the same at 37 percent. The NDA vote share increased by nearly 10 percentage points in 2025, driven by Chirag Paswan's LJP party joining the alliance, and not by a shift of women's votes. The increase in NDA vote share came equally from both men and women. This is clearly seen in districts such as Begusarai and Khagaria, where the NDA vote share increased by 18 percentage points; but the share of women voters remained the same as in 2020. So, neither was there a sudden sharp increase in women voters, nor was there a huge shift of them from the MGB to the NDA.

AFP

> The surge in women's turnout share in Bihar may be attributable to the cleaning up of voter lists. If more states believe the narrative of cash-for-women as a winning formula, something that started in Karnataka, the states' fiscal health will be strained

The cash scheme for women in Bihar cost ₹12,000 crore, which is the same as the annual health budget for the whole state for 2023-24. To put it simply, the amount of money needed to provide medical facilities for the entire population of Bihar for one year was given away as free cash in two months.

Bihar was the 12th state to indulge in such election throwaways in the last two years. It began with Karnataka in 2023, when the Congress party announced ₹2,000 a month for women just before the election and won. Election consultants and the media painted a narrative of this scheme being the clincher, when in reality the Congress would have won even without this scheme due to a heavy anti-incumbency then.

But that false narrative set off a series of such pre-election announcements in Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, Telangana, Rajasthan, Haryana, Jharkhand, Maharashtra, Delhi, and now Bihar. Six of these states do not even have enough money to pay salaries for government staff. Many have cut their development expenditure on hospitals, schools, roads, water, and roads to fund their cash schemes.

This misguided race has burnt a ₹2-lakh-crore hole in state finances annually, about the amount the Union government spends on rural jobs, drinking water, and rural roads combined for the country. The total debt of these states has doubled in three years. When states cut back on development and borrow heavily, it is the same poor woman who received the cash that is impacted the most.

Further, merely throwing cash before elections hollows out the essence of democratic politics. Such blind faith in a 'cash for women' magic wand to win elections breaks the connection between governance and elections, and renders leaders lazy and redundant. Why have an entire political party apparatus if all one needs to win is to throw money a few months before elections and have paid 'jeevika didis' go door-to-door to campaign?

Such cash transfer schemes also hollow out the very essence of governance. After all, without adequate health infrastructure, well-paved roads, or high-quality public education, people cannot just wave a bunch of currency notes to improve their lives. Distributing free cash by reducing other development expenditure and letting people fend for themselves can turn societies chaotic.

Misleading narratives of electoral outcomes, while seemingly innocuous, can be extremely dangerous. In the interest of the nation, it is time all political parties learned from the 'mokusatsu' mistake and stopped this race to the bottom.

Home minister alleges that Nehru restricted national song to two stanzas in 1937 ● LoP says debate a tactic to divert focus from rising unemployment, falling rupee

Shah: Vande Mataram tweak led to Partition

There was a need for a discussion on Vande Mataram and the dedication to it when it was written when India became free.

'Nothing to do with election'

Responding to Priyanka Gandhi's allegation in the Lok Sabha on Tuesday that the BJP government had scheduled the debate with Bengal polls in mind, Shah, without naming her, said such claims were "unfortunate" and insisted the discussion "had nothing to do with the election". The home minister said the song "remains as relevant today as it was during the freedom struggle"

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Tuesday attacked the Congress in the Rajya Sabha, alleging that the party's "appeasement politics" and its decision to divide Vande Mataram song had even contributed to the partition of India. Opening a discussion on the national song, Shah accused the Opposition of diminishing the debate's significance by linking it to upcoming Bengal elections.

Calling Vande Mataram the "mantra that awakened India's cultural nationalism", Shah said the song "remains as relevant today as it was during the freedom struggle". Responding to Priyanka Gandhi's allegation in the Lok Sabha that the government had scheduled the debate with Bengal polls in mind, Shah, without naming her, said such claims were "unfortunate" and insisted the discussion "had nothing to do with the election".

"There was a need for a discussion on Vande Mataram and the dedication to it when it was written, when India became free, today, and it will remain so even in 2047," he said. Shah also revived an old criticism of the Congress, accusing India's first Prime Minister, Jawaharlal Nehru, of limiting the song to two stanzas. "On the 50th anniversary of Vande Mataram in 1937, Jawaharlal Nehru divided it into two and limited it to two stanzas. This was the way Congress honoured Vande Mataram," he said, triggering strong protests from Opposition MPs. He remarked that when Vande Mataram completed 100 years, the country was placed under Emergency.

Shah said the division of the song "for appeasement politics" had "paved the way" for the Partition. "If they had not divided the song into two for appeasement politics, India would also not have been partitioned," he claimed.

He reminded the House that Maharshi Aurobindo had described Vande Mataram as "the mantra of India's awakening", and said India's boundaries were shaped not by legislation but by culture. Taking aim at the Congress leadership, he noted that when the debate began in the Lok Sabha, "both members of the Gandhi family were missing", adding that opposition to Vande Mataram was "in the blood of the Congress leadership". Shah submitted a letter listing nine incidents of alleged disrespect to the song by the Opposition.

Kharge retorts, says BJP insulting Nehru

Patriotism should not be limited to symbolism and speeches. India's influence in neighbouring countries is declining while China's is rising

'Ready to discuss all issues'

Leader of the House J P Nadda claimed Kharge was straying from the topic, insisting the House was there to discuss Vande Mataram, not the economy or foreign affairs. "The government is ready to have a discussion on all issues... you discuss Vande matram here. Do not deviate from the subject," Nadda said, adding that the govt was prepared for a full debate on economy if Kharge wanted one.

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

PARTICIPATING in the discussion on Vande Mataram in the Rajya Sabha on Tuesday, Leader of the Opposition Mallikarjun Kharge accused the government and the BJP of trying to divert the public's focus from the country's real economic problems—rising unemployment and the falling value of the rupee—by pushing a debate on the national song.

Kharge argued that true patriotism lies in fixing the issues faced by ordinary people, not in symbolic gestures or loud declarations. "When there are economic challenges in front of the country, then to have a political discussion on the national song Vande Mataram is just an attempt to divert attention... Patriotism should not be limited to symbolism and speeches," he said.

He spoke immediately after Amit Shah, who had accused the Congress of appeasement politics for using only two stanzas of Bankim Chandra Chattopadhyay's poem. Kharge hit back, saying, "He (Shah) has started a discussion on Vande Mataram, only keeping the Bengal elections (in mind)."

Across his nearly hour-long speech, Kharge also touched on international issues, saying India's influence in neighbouring countries was declining while China's was rising. His comments triggered protests from the treasury benches.

Leader of the House JP Nadda claimed Kharge was straying from the topic, insisting the House was there to discuss Vande Mataram, not the economy or foreign affairs. "The government is ready to have a discussion on all issues... you discuss Vande matram here. Do not deviate from the subject," Nadda said, adding that the government was prepared for a full debate on the economy if Kharge wanted one.

Kharge reminded the House that Congress leaders had actively participated in the freedom struggle, while, according to him, the BJP's ideological predecessors had not.

"We have always been singing Vande Mataram. But those who did not sing Vande Mataram have also started singing it now...When the non-cooperation movement began in 1921, Congress members were going to jail while chanting Vande Mataram... What were you doing? You were working for the British...You are teaching patriotism to us?" he said.

POWER CORRIDOR

'29 TOP NAXAL LEADERS NEUTRALISED SINCE 2019'

The security forces have neutralised 29 top Naxal leaders since 2019, with 14 Central Committee Members (CCM) and Politburo Members (PBM) killed this year alone, Lok Sabha was informed on Tuesday. Responding to a supplementary during the Question Hour, Minister of State for Home Nityanand Rai said the number of affected states has gone down from 10 in 2014 to 5 in 2025 (till October), showing a reduction of 50%, while the number of districts affected by Left Wing Extremism (LWE) has witnessed a sharp decline of 91 per cent from 126 to 11 during the period. He said the number of districts affected by left-wing extremism has decreased from 126 in April 2018 to 90 in July 2021, 70 in April 2024, 38 in April 2025, and further to 11 in October 2025, with only three districts now considered to be the "most affected" by LWE.

CAP ON MBBS SEATS DEFERRED YET AGAIN

The implementation of capping MBBS seats by the National Medical Commission (NMC) has been deferred for the academic years 2024-25 and 2025-26, Union Health Minister J P Nadda told the Rajya Sabha on Tuesday. The National Medical Commission (NMC) is the apex statutory body constituted by an Act of Parliament, entrusted with the responsibility of regulating and overseeing medical education and practice across the country, Nadda said. The health minister was responding to a question on whether the government has noted concerns that the NMC's 2023 directive to cap MBBS seats at 100 per 10 lakh population in a state will adversely impact the southern states, including Kerala, which have already exceeded this ratio, and if the NMC has permanently withdrawn the said directive.

MINISTRY PULLED UP FOR DELAYS

A parliamentary panel has pulled up the Tribal Affairs Ministry over delays in setting up tribal freedom fighters' museums and Eklavya Model Residential Schools (EMRS), warning that the absence of clear timelines and preconditions for states could lead to further cost escalation and defeat the purpose of flagship schemes. In a report on action taken by the government on its recommendations, the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Social Justice and Empowerment said it was "not satisfied" with the ministry's replies on the slow progress in the work on 11 tribal freedom fighters' museums and on gaps in EMRS infrastructure and decided to reiterate four recommendations on these issues. The report showed that nine out of 14 recommendations, are accepted by government.

'GENUINE ISLANDERS ARE RECEIVING BENEFITS'

The Centre on Tuesday informed Parliament that "eligible" residents of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands are receiving benefits meant for "genuine islanders" even if they do not possess an Islander card. The clarification came in response to a question asked by local MP Bishnu Pada Ray, who sought details with regard to his request for conducting a re-survey and issuance of islander cards to the left-out, genuine islanders. "Even in the absence of islander cards, genuine residents who are eligible on the basis of the prescribed criteria and notified documents are provided benefits like sea travel fare concession, inter-island helicopter travel fare concession, etc.," Minister of State for Home Affairs Nityanand Rai said in a written reply to the Lok Sabha. He added that the Andaman administration has received a request from the public representative for a re-survey and issuance of islander cards to the left-out, genuine islanders, and it has been "dwelt on" by them.

Ruckus in House over electoral reforms, SIR, Bihar poll results

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE debate on electoral reforms in the Lok Sabha turned combative on Tuesday, with the Opposition targeting the ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls and the Treasury benches firing back with the BJP's emphatic victory in the Bihar elections.

Initiating the discussion, Congress MP Manish Tewari said the Election Commission has no legal basis to conduct SIR, and it must be stopped while making a slew of suggestions for election reforms, including mandating a 100 per cent counting of VVPAT slips or reverting to paper ballots.

He also called for disallowing direct cash transfers to people ahead of polls and adding two members -- the Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha and the Chief Justice of India -- to the existing three-member panel to select the chief election commissioner and the two election commissioners. The Congress leader said the 2023 law stipulates that the panel to select the election commission and the two election commissioners should comprise the prime minister, the leader of the opposition in Lok Sabha and a Cabinet minister. Tewari said that BR Ambedkar ensured that the EC would be a permanent body. "It was expected of the EC that it would work as a neutral umpire, but regretfully I have to say that many members sitting on this side (pointing to opposition benches) and many people feel the need to raise questions over its neutrality," Tewari said.

Attacking the government, Trinamool Congress MP Kalyan Banerjee said that the SIR exercise aims to 'delete' electors, not authenticate them. Calling the exercise arbitrary, Banerjee asked, 'Why should an elector, whose name was there in 2024 (voter list), be told that he is not an elector because his name was not there in 2002?' Deletion of voters, he said, would undermine the democratic process. Now, PM Modi decides through the EC who will be a voter. ' Insisting that 'nobody is above the law', Banerjee said the Supreme Court would have the final word on the legality of the EC's actions. Banerjee also criticised the poll authority's approach on delimitation and the use of digital applications to verify family relationships in voter lists.

Countering the charges, Union Law Minister Arjun Ram Meghwal said the SIR has been held multiple times since 1952 and is required to clean up electoral rolls, which change due to migration and rapid urbanisation. He accused Congress of engaging in vote theft since the first Lok Sabha elections, including rigging elections.

Anil Ambani's son booked by CBI in ₹228 cr bank fraud case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE CBI has filed a criminal case against Jai Anmol Anil Ambani, son of industrialist Anil Ambani, following allegations of cheating and fund diversion that caused Union Bank of India a loss of ₹228.06 crore, the agency said. Anil Ambani's Reliance Group is facing money laundering investigation into alleged irregularities in loans worth approximately ₹17,000 crore.

The FIR, registered on December 6, 2025, has named Jai Anmol Ambani, former director of Reliance Home Finance Ltd (RHFL), along with Ravindra Sharad Sudhalkar, the company's ex-CEO and whole-time director, unknown associates and public servants.

CBI obtained search warrants from the court of special CBI judge, Mumbai, and conducted searches at two official premises of Reliance Home Finance Ltd, residential premises of Jai Anmol Ambani, the then director of Reliance Home Finance Ltd. and residential premises of Ravindra Sudhalkar, ex-CEO and whole time director of RHFL, all at Mumbai, the CBI said.

Belgium top court rejects Mehul Choksi's appeal against extradition: CBI

SUMIT KUMAR SINGH @ New Delhi

THE Belgium's Supreme Court has dismissed Indian fugitive diamond trader Mehul Choksi's plea challenging his extradition to India in a ₹13,850 crore scam, CBI officials said on Tuesday. Choksi had approached Belgium's top court on October 30, challenging the October 17 order of the Antwerp Court of Appeals, which had termed India's extradition request "enforceable."

The spokesperson for Court of Cassation, Advocaat-general Henri Vanderlinden, said, "The Court of Cassation rejected the appeal. So, the decision of the Court of Appeal stands." Earlier, the Antwerp court had ruled that Choksi, the main accused in the ₹13,850 crore Punjab National Bank (PNB) scam, faced "no risk" of being denied a fair trial or subjected to ill-treatment if sent back to India.

On October 17, a four-member indictment chamber of the Antwerp Court of Appeals upheld an earlier order issued by the pre-trial chamber of the district court on November 29, 2024. It found no irregularity in the arrest warrants issued by a Mumbai special court in May 2018 and June 2021, ruling them "enforceable" and clearing the way for Choksi's extradition.

Dismissing the appeal filed by Choksi against the district court, the Court of Appeals held that the businessman failed to provide "concretely plausible" evidence of a "genuine risk" of torture or denial of justice.

It held that the documents the accused submitted do not substantiate his claims that he is the subject of a political trial.

Choksi had stated that the Indian system is not as per international law. To which, the agencies have also submitted pictures of Mumbai's Arthur Road Jail, specifically Barrack No 12, to Belgian court where Choksi will be held once extradited.

It is 46-square-metre barrack, which has two cells with private toilets and basic facilities. The images were shared to counter Choksi's claims that Indian prisons are overcrowded and unsafe.

India on 'Reform Express' drive, Modi tells BJP MPs

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi told the NDA Parliamentary Party on Tuesday that laws must never place unnecessary burdens on citizens. He said rules and regulations should exist only "for people's convenience," not to make their lives harder.

According to a senior NDA source, the Prime Minister told MPs that the government has now entered a full-fledged "Reform Express" phase, where reforms are moving rapidly and with clear intent. He stressed that all reforms under the NDA government are "entirely citizen-centric and not merely economic or revenue-driven," with the goal of removing everyday obstacles so people can reach their full potential.

Reinforcing that making life easier for people is the central priority of his government's third term, Modi emphasised that the reforms being undertaken are meant to benefit ordinary citizens directly, not just improve systems on paper. Modi urged NDA MPs to bring forward the real problems faced by people so that the Reform Express "can reach everyone."

He strongly criticised the long-standing culture of lengthy paperwork, pointing out that it is time to end "30-40-page forms" and unnecessary procedures. He underlined the importance of making sure services reach people at their doorstep and stopping repeated data submissions that waste time and energy. He also said that Ease of Life and Ease of Doing Business will remain top priorities for the government.

Later, Union Parliamentary Affairs Minister Kiren Rijiju briefed the media on Modi's message. He said the Prime Minister had given clear guidelines, stating that the most important focus in the government's third term is the "Reform Express." Rijiju quoted Modi, saying, "Whatever law is framed, it should have no provision which is harmful or causes inconvenience to any citizen. The rules and laws should not become a burden on the life of a common citizen." He added that rules must "improve the system, not harass people," and that there should be "no law which harasses people without any reason."

Modi also reminded MPs that the government had shown trust in citizens by allowing self-certification, which has worked well for ten years without misuse. At the start of the meeting, Modi was felicitated for the NDA's Bihar victory. Sanjay Jha and Upendra Kushwaha garlanded him, and senior leaders, including Union ministers Rajnath Singh and Amit Shah, and BJP president J P Nadda, were present.

Cut flights by 10% to tide over crisis, DGCA tells IndiGo

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

STARTING Wednesday, 214 flights of IndiGo will officially become non-operational. The Civil Aviation Ministry on Tuesday ordered the airline to curtail its daily operations by 10% against the backdrop of wide disruptions across the country, announced Civil Aviation Minister Ram Mohan Naidu.

Following the Ministry's order, the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) issued a revised show cause notice to the airline ordering it to reduce its winter flights by 10%. IndiGo was asked to submit its revised winter schedule to the DGCA on December 10 by 5 pm. Sectors facing high demand need to be reduced, it added. Naidu's statement said, "The Ministry considers it necessary to curtail the overall Indigo routes which will help in stabilising the airline's operations and lead to reduced cancellations. A curtailment of 10% has been ordered. While abiding with it, IndiGo will continue to cover its destinations as before."

As per the winter schedule 2025, IndiGo was permitted to operate 15,014 departures per week during winter.

Mamata alleges deletion of many genuine voters' names from list ● TMC in panic because rolls revision will expose voter fraud: Suvendu

Didi: Poll dates soon after SIR to duck legal challenge

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

WEST Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Tuesday said the Election Commission may announce assembly poll dates for the state soon after the publication of the final voters' list in February under the special intensive revision (SIR) exercise to prevent any legal challenge to the fresh electoral rolls.

Addressing a public rally in Cooch Behar district, Banerjee alleged that names of many genuine voters are being deleted during the rolls revision. The CM alleged that the Election Commission's November 4 rollout of the SIR had created "widespread fear" among people, particularly among minorities, migrant workers and married women.

"After staying in this country as Indian citizens all our lives, now we are being asked to prove our citizenship again. What can be more humiliating than this?" she asked. "People who are still alive being shown as deceased in the voters' list. Why should SIR be done in such a hurry? Last time in 2002, the (rolls revision) process took two years. I don't understand how an impartial poll panel can act with so much bias?"

Banerjee said women should come out to fight "BSF atrocities" against people residing along the borders with Bangladesh. "I want to see whether our mothers and sisters are more courageous and mightier than the BJP. Don't get panicked. I can assure you that no detention camp is allowed in Bengal as long as Trinamool Congress is there in the state. No one will be pushed back by the BSF. We won't be cowed down by the BJP," she said.

The CM said, "We are trying to bring back the four other Bengali-speaking Indian citizens from Bangladesh. We have already brought back the pregnant Sunali Khatun and her eight-year-old son. The BSF had pushed them back to Bangladesh though they have necessary documents related to Indian citizenship." In June, the BSF had deported six Bengalis hailing from Paikar village of Birbhum district to the neighbouring country suspecting them to be Bangladeshi nationals.

The chief minister has also accused the Union government of not releasing funds due to the state for MGNREGA despite a Supreme Court order. "The Centre is attempting to starve Bengal financially," the CM alleged.

LoP: TMC holding camps for SC/ST certs for infiltrators

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

BJP legislator and West Bengal Leader of Opposition (LoP) Suvendu Adhikari on Tuesday alleged that the ruling Trinamool Congress in the state was organizing camps to fast-track issuance of SC, ST and OBC certificates for "undocumented infiltrators and fake claimants."

Adhikari shared a memo issued by the block development officer (BDO) of Kandi in Murshidabad district to substantiate his allegations against the TMC. He showed instances of three beneficiaries who were issued such certificates allegedly by the BDO after June 24 when the special intensive revision (SIR) of electoral rolls started in Bihar.

He urged the Election Commission (EC) to conduct exhaustive probes into each certificate and cross-verify whether the community is genuinely enlisted as an SC, ST or OBC community by the Centre.

"Why the sudden panic? Because the Election Commission of India's special intensive revision (SIR) exercise is about to expose their voter fraud racket! The desperation is obvious because a large chunk of Mamata Banerjee's 'vote bank', who are unable to link their names to the authentic 2002 voter list, are staring at exclusion from the draft electoral rolls," he claimed in a post on X.

"It's a blatant bid to arm ineligible voters with 'certificates' that slyly match the EC's list of 13 documents for hearings after the publication of draft electoral rolls. An attempt to make a mockery of democracy, by flooding the system with bogus SC/ST/OBC creds," he alleged.

Adhikari alleged that efforts were being made to rob the true marginalized communities of their rightful share. "Real SCs, STs, and OBCs will watch their benefits evaporate as ineligible people will swarm in, staking unethical claims," he claimed.

The BJP leader urged the EC to conduct exhaustive probes into each certificate and cross-verify whether the community is genuinely enlisted as an SC, ST or OBC community by the Centre. "The West Bengal government has the habit of issuing OBC certificates (mostly religion-based) to ineligible people which have been struck down by the courts. Let the SIR purge the electoral rolls clean, and let democracy prevail," he added.

'No delay, Nishant should join politics'

There has been a buzz around Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar's son, Nishant Kumar, entering politics for a long time. While Nitish has not spoken on the issue so far, Nishant has also not given any clear indication that he wants to join politics. However, the Janata Dal (United) workers and leaders, including Nitish's close aides, are saying that he should take a plunge into active politics. Senior JD(U) leader and minister Shravan Kumar has also joined the chorus and contended that Nishant should join politics without any further delay as it is already very late.

Power shock for Tej Pratap yet again

There seems no end to the problems of Tej Pratap Yadav, the elder son of Lalu Prasad. First, Lalu expelled him from the RJD and family for six years, which was followed by a humiliating defeat in the Assembly elections. Then, it was learnt that he hadn't paid his electricity bills for his house at Beur in Patna since July 2022, resulting in outstanding dues of ₹3.61 lakh. Now, there are reports that he has paid the bill. Recently, he hit the headlines when he had to vacate his official bungalow after he lost in the Bihar Assembly polls. He came third in Mahua constituency.

Former Bihar CM and alcohol back in focus

Former Bihar chief minister and HAM leader Jitan Ram Manjhi has been in spotlight for his views on Nitish Kumar's prohibition. Recently, he said he has sent a third request to the present chief minister Nitish for reviewing the liquor ban. It states that if a labourer is going home after work and drinks alcohol, he shouldn't be arrested. But the police let go of those with thousands of gallons of liquor, while they arrest the poor after making them take a breathalyzer test and send them to jail. "My father used to make liquor from mahua (raw material) and sugarcane juice; that kind of liquor is beneficial. Today, there are five lakh cases pending against the people from his community, Musahar.

5% DA hike for over 10L Bihar govt employees

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE Bihar cabinet on Tuesday approved a 5% hike in the dearness allowance (DA) for over 10 lakh government employees and pensioners and creation of three new departments, including one for employment and skill development. Government employees and pensioners receiving salaries and pensions under the sixth Central Pay Commission will now receive 257% DA instead of 252%.

Similarly, those getting salaries and pensions under the fifth Central Pay Commission will receive 474% DA instead of 466%. These revised rates will be effective from July 1, 2025. The cabinet meet also approved the creation of three new departments to fulfil the promise of providing one crore jobs to youth. The new departments include the youth employment and skill development, higher education department, and civil aviation department.

"We set a target to provide employment to one crore youth in next five years (2025-30). For this, it is necessary that maximum youth of the state be given training for skill development and quality higher and technical education," CM Nitish Kumar said on X.

Over 22 lakh workers off Gujarat MGNREGA records

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

FROM 2019-20 to 2024-25, over 7.49 lakh job cards under MGNREGA were deleted, and nearly 22.68 lakh workers removed from job cards in Gujarat, raising serious questions on transparency, and eligibility in the state, the Lok Sabha was informed on Tuesday.

The disclosure has opened a sharp debate on transparency and accountability in the state's implementation of the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme (MGNREGA), according to officials.

Gujarat has seen a year-on-year rise in deletion of job cards, beginning with 40,314 deletions in 2019-20, jumping to 1,31,080 in 2020-21, dipping slightly to 40,289 in 2021-22, only to spike again with 1,46,141 deletions in 2022-23. The situation intensified dramatically in 2023-24, where deletions ballooned to 3,38,533 job cards, the highest in five years.

Even in the ongoing financial year 2024-25, the deletion trend continues with 53,616 job cards already removed, signalling the process is far from slowing.

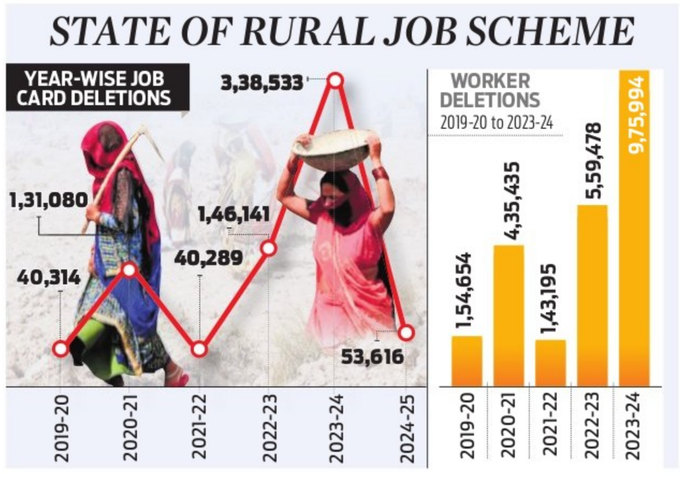
Between 2019-20 and 2023-24, the state removed workers linked to job cards at an unprecedented scale: In 2019-20, 1,54,654 workers were removed from the MGNREGA registry, a baseline that almost tripled the following year with 4,35,435 deletions in 2020-21.

The trend briefly dipped in 2021-22, recording 1,43,195 removals, only to surge again in subsequent years. By 2022-23, deletions jumped dramatically to 5,59,478, marking a significant expansion in exclusion from the programme.

The sharpest rise came in 2023-24, when the number nearly doubled again, reaching 9,75,994 deleted workers the highest point in the five-year dataset.

The Centre attempted to justify the deletions, stating they were based on reasons such as fake or duplicate entries, incorrect registration, migration, gram panchayats reclassified as urban, or cases where the sole member listed on the job card had died.

Officials said that states must ensure that no eligible household is excluded, and must follow strict SoPs before deleting any job card or worker.



CBI seeks Interpol help to bring back nightclub owners from Thailand

SUMIT KUMAR SINGH @ New Delhi

THE CBI has asked Interpol to issue a Blue Notice against two owners of a Goa nightclub where a fire killed 25 people. Police said that Saurabh Luthra and Gaurav Luthra, owners of the Birch nightclub, fled to Thailand soon after the incident. The Goa Police had requested the CBI to seek the notice, which helps agencies collect information on a person's identity, location, or activities during a criminal investigation.

The third owner, Ajay Gupta, is still in India. Police teams are conducting raids to find him. A senior IPS officer said Gupta's last known location was in Gurugram and that local police are assisting in the search. A Lookout Circular has also been issued, and airport and immigration authorities have been alerted.

According to officers, all three owners were in Delhi when the fire broke out around midnight on Saturday. Saurabh and Gaurav left India shortly after. Records from the Bureau of Immigration in Mumbai show they boarded a flight to Phuket at 5:30 am on December 7. Ajay Gupta was traced to Delhi and Gurugram.

The Goa Police have arrested five members of the club's staff: chief general manager Rajiv Modak, gate manager Priyanshu Thakur, bar manager Rajveer Singhania, general manager Vivek Singh, and operations head Bharat Singh from Delhi.

The FIR states that the fire occurred on December 6, 2025, at around 11:45 pm at Birch by Romeo Lane in Arpora, Bardez, North Goa. The blaze started during a fire show organised by the owners, partners, managers, event organisers, and managing staff. Twenty-five people died, and several tourists and staff were injured.

Vaishnaw: Focus now is on creating a robust semiconductor ecosystem

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

UNION Minister for Electronics and Information Technology Ashwini Vaishnaw on Tuesday said that India's focus now is on creating a robust semiconductor ecosystem.

He was speaking after virtually inaugurating the first conference of Supercomputing India (SCI) 2025 organised under the auspices of the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MEITY) here.

"This is India's first global supercomputing conference. It's a big progress. These are fields which are redefining our economy. We are focused on made-in-India solutions, and hope there will be many global collaborations from this conference. We are focusing on a semiconductor ecosystem in our country," Vaishnaw said in a video message.

We are focused on made-in-India solutions, and hope there will be many global collaborations from this conference. We are focusing on a semiconductor ecosystem
Ashwini Vaishnaw, Union Minister

Union Minister of State for Electronics and Information Technology Jitin Prasada, in his message, said, "It is a landmark moment. India is both designing and manufacturing in this sector. This is a message to the world of India's progress."

Over 200 speakers from 15 countries have registered for the conference to be held till December 13.

SD Sudarsan, executive director, Centre for Development and Advanced Computing (C-DAC), Bengaluru, said that an event of this kind is precedent-setting, considering that supercomputing isn't a buzzword like AI, but a much more specialised topic.

"We will have many such events in the future. The idea is to bring students, academics and researchers together. We need to make this world accessible to everyone, not just the elite," director general Magesh Ethirajan said.

Delivering the keynote address, senior vice-president of AMD Thomas Zacharia stressed the need for governments to ally themselves with private institutions to achieve greater progress.

ISRO report disseminates info on 2024's solar storm

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A detailed study report prepared and published by scientists and researchers from Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) explained what and how the massive solar storm of May 2024, also called Gannon's Storm, happened.

The study report, titled 'Pinching of ICME Flux Rope: Unprecedented Multipoint Observations of Internal Magnetic Reconnection during Gannon's Superstorm', was published in September 2025 in The Astrophysical Journal Letters and made public in December 2025.

The ISRO team pointed out that the entire solar storm comprising of a series of explosions on the Sun, called Coronal Mass Ejections (CMEs), was unusual and the largest ever. It was captured by the Aditya-L1 (the mission ISRO launched in 2023 to study the sun from the Sun-Earth Lagrangian Point located 1.5 million kilometres from the Earth). A CME is a huge hot gas bubble and magnetic energy thrown out from the Sun into space. When these bubbles hit the Earth, they can shake the planet's magnetic shield and cause trouble for the satellites, communication systems, GPS and power grids.

In the report, the scientists noted that the Aditya-L1 had captured how the two back-to-back CMEs collided in the interplanetary space and how their embedded magnetic field lines had snapped and then rejoined again. The same was also captured by six other spacecraft, including NASA's Wind, ACE, DSCOVR, THEMIS-C, STEREO-A and MMS. The researchers also noted that the locations where the magnetic giant explosions in the sun occurred was about 1.3 million kilometres across, that is nearly 100 times the Earth's size. The scientists noted that this was the first time such a giant magnetic breakup and rejoining had occurred. The scientists in the report pointed to the crucial challenges and need for specific space weather predictions as it helps in accurately determining the arrival time of such interplanetary CMEs at the Earth and understanding the magnetic topology.

In the report, the scientists explained that they had discovered something unusual. They quoted: "The Sun's magnetic fields, which are like twisted ropes inside a solar storm, were breaking and rejoining within the storm. Usually, a CME carries a twisted "magnetic rope" that interacts with Earth's magnetic shield as it approaches Earth. But this time, two CMEs collided in space and squeezed each other so firmly that the magnetic field lines inside one of them snapped and rejoined in new ways, a process called magnetic reconnection. This sudden reversal of the magnetic field made the storm's impact much stronger than expected. Satellites also detected particles suddenly speeding up, indicating an increase in their energy, confirming the magnetic reconnection event."

Nobel press conference with Machado cancelled

Oslo: Nobel officials delayed a press conference with Peace Prize laureate Maria Machado in Oslo Tuesday, but said they remained confident Venezuela's elusive opposition leader would collect her award in person. Machado has been in hiding since August 2024. The Venezuelan government has said it would declare her a "fugitive" if she attends, putting her at risk of arrest if she tries to re-enter the country

World's first social media ban for under-16s takes effect in Australia

Experts say new law will turn Aus into a laboratory for understanding tech's impact on youth

MELBOURNE

AUSTRALIA'S under-16 social media ban will make the nation a real-life laboratory to better understand the technology's impact on young people, experts say.

Those in favour of Wednesday's world-first ban point to a growing mass of studies that suggest too much time online takes a toll on teen wellbeing.

But opponents argue there is not enough hard proof to warrant the new legislation, which could do more harm than good by isolating vulnerable children.

Adolescent brains are still developing into the early 20s, said psychologist Amy Orben, who leads a digital mental health programme at the University of Cambridge.

A student uses phone in Sydney | AP

And a "huge amount" of observational research, often based on surveys, has tracked a correlation between teen tech use and worse mental health, she told AFP.

But it is hard to draw firm conclusions, because phones are so ingrained into daily life, and young people may turn to social media because they are already suffering.

"With technology, because it's changing so fast, the evidence base will always be uncertain," Orben said.

"Evaluating the Australia ban is hugely important because it actually gives us a window on what might be happening," Orben said.

Australian researchers are recruiting 13- to 16-year-olds for a "Connected Minds Study" to assess how the ban affects their wellbeing.

A World Health Organization survey last year found that 11 percent of adolescents struggled to control their social media use.

Other research has shown a link between excessive social media use and poor sleep, body image, school performance and emotional distress.

For example, one 2019 study of US schoolchildren, published in JAMA Psychiatry, found that those who spent over three hours a day on social media could be at heightened risk for mental health problems.

Some experts argue now is the right time to act.

"I actually don't think this is a science issue. This is a values issue," said Christian Heim, an Australian psychiatrist and clinical director of mental health. "We're talking about things like cyberbullying, the risk of suicide, accessing sites on anorexia nervosa and self-harm," he said. AFP

Local people fleeing from their homes in a northwestern province of Cambodia's border with Thailand on Tuesday | AP

Thailand-Cambodia clashes spread, 10 killed

SREI SNAM

FIGHTING between Thailand and Cambodia spread to new parts of their contested border on Tuesday, forcing a mass exodus of civilians from the disputed frontier as a Trump-brokered truce was derailed by deadly new hostilities.

At least 10 soldiers and civilians have been killed on both sides in the latest spate of fighting, officials say, while more than 1,40,000 civilians have fled the areas near where jets, tanks and drones are waging battle.

Thailand and Cambodia dispute the colonial-era demarcation of their 800-kilometre frontier, where competing claims by both sides to historic temples can spill over into armed conflict.

This week's clashes are the deadliest since five days of fighting in July that killed dozens before a shaky truce was agreed. Both sides blame each other for sparking the renewed clashes which had on Tuesday expanded to five provinces of both Thailand and Cambodia, according to an AFP tally of official accounts.

Cambodia's influential former leader Hun Sen said his country retaliated against Thailand, after Phnom Penh initially denied firing back for two days as Thailand announced air strikes and tank barrages.

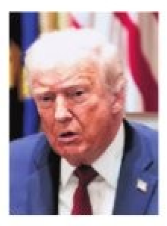
"When is this going to stop?" pleaded Thai farmer, 56-year-old Samlee Tahan, who has stayed behind at her rural home in the border province of Surin to guard her livestock. AFP

US to allow sale of Nvidia AI chips to China, says Trump

WASHINGTON

AMERICAN President Donald Trump said Monday he had reached an agreement with President Xi Jinping to allow US chip giant Nvidia to export advanced artificial intelligence chips to China.

The announcement marked a significant shift in US export policy for advanced AI chips, which Joe Biden's administration had heavily restricted over national security concerns about military applications.



Democrats in Congress quickly dismissed the shift as a huge mistake that will help the Chinese military and economy. In a post on his Truth Social platform, Trump said he had informed Xi that Washington would permit Nvidia to ship its H200 products to "approved customers in China, and other countries, under conditions that allow for continued strong National Security".

"President Xi responded positively! $25% will be paid to the United States of America," Trump wrote, without providing details on how the payment mechanism would work.

Trump criticised his predecessor's approach, saying it "forced our Great Companies to spend BILLIONS OF DOLLARS building 'degraded' products that nobody wanted, a terrible idea that slowed Innovation, and hurt the American Worker."

This referred to the Biden administration's requirement for chip companies to create modified, less powerful versions specifically for the Chinese market. These chips had reduced capabilities to comply with export control regulations.

IndiGo crisis hits tourism sector hard

Top destinations have seen rise in hotel booking cancellations; Oyo to give refund to clients

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

FLIGHT cancellations and delays caused by operational disruptions at IndiGo have significantly impacted the tourism and hospitality sectors during the peak festive and holiday season. The country's largest airline has cancelled over 5,000 flights in just one week, stranding thousands of passengers and forcing many to alter their travel plans.

"Festive season travel is extremely sensitive to timing. Even a single cancellation can break an entire itinerary—missed hotel nights, forfeited bookings, additional transfer costs, and loss of sightseeing days. The distress for travellers is real, and the reputational impact on India's travel experience is significant," said Ravi Gosain, President of the Indian Association of Tour Operators (IATO). He added that tour operators and travel agents are running 24/7 'war rooms' to rebook passengers, protect onward travel plans and minimise losses.

The CEO of a leading tours and travel company told TNIE that popular winter and wedding destinations like Goa, Jaipur, and Udaipur have seen a sharp rise in hotel booking cancellations since the disruption at IndiGo began. He added that both inbound and outbound tourism have been affected, as IndiGo is a key player on short-haul international routes. "Passengers who booked tickets in advance at lower prices are unlikely to travel now, as fares have surged. We have seen significant cancellations over the past week," he said, requesting anonymity. IndiGo, the airline with a 63% domestic market share, exclusively operates over 60% of domestic routes, leaving many passengers with no alternative but to fly with it.

India's largest airline cancelled 5,000 flights

IndiGo has cancelled more than 5,000 flights since last Tuesday due to a severe crew shortage, especially pilots, following revised Flight Duty Time Limitations (FDTL) norms introduced last month. India's aviation regulator DGCA on Monday slashed IndiGo's winter schedule, reducing the number of flights by 10%

Jatin Khanna, CEO of Sarovar Hotels, said they have seen some cancellations in the first week of December to the tune of nearly 1,600 room nights, but recovered 30% back due to extensions and all. "We do see a lesser impact in the past couple of days, but cancellations are still trickling in. We have cut our forecast by 4%to 5% and are monitoring the situation," Khanna said.

Oravel Stays, the parent firm of Oyo (now PRISM), announced that it will fully refund travellers who are unable to use their hotel bookings from December 5 to 15 due to the flight disruptions. The refund applies to travellers whose flights were delayed by more than four hours or cancelled due to the ongoing operational difficulties.

IndiGo has cancelled more than 5,000 flights since last Tuesday due to a severe crew shortage, especially pilots, following revised Flight Duty Time Limitations (FDTL) norms introduced last month.

India's aviation regulator DGCA on Monday slashed IndiGo's winter schedule, reducing the number of flights by 10%. IndiGo is about to operate more than 1800 flights on Tuesday, connecting all 138 stations in its network, and plans to fly nearly 1,900 flights on Thursday.

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

INDIA'S equity markets fell sharply again on Tuesday as investors pressed the caution button ahead of the important US Federal Reserve policy meeting outcome due on Wednesday. After touching an all-time high of 86,159 on December 1, the BSE Sensex has closed at 84,666.28 on Tuesday. In the last two sessions, the 30-share index has crashed over 1,000 points. The NSE Nifty50 also fell 0.5% to end the session at 25,839.65.

While experts anticipate the Fed to cut rates by 25 bps, the growing chances of a hawkish tone regarding future rate cuts are weighing on equity investors worldwide. Experts believe that the final reaction of equity investors will depend not only on the rate cut but also on the Fed's forward guidance. If the tone remains cautious or signals volatility ahead, India's markets may respond with short-term caution.

The effect of the Fed meeting outcome is already being felt in the bond market as the US 10-year treasury yield climbed to a two-week high of 4.18%, while Japanese government bonds hovered near a 17-year high on Tuesday. The rising yield is a big negative for riskier assets such as equities.

Ross Maxwell, Global Strategy Operations Lead, VT Markets, said the outcome of this month's Fed meeting is likely to significantly influence the Indian markets because global investors closely track US monetary policy to determine risk sentiment and base their future decisions. At a time when the Fed is divided on how to proceed, it is likely to bring volatility to the global markets.

Investor sentiment has also taken a hit in recent sessions due to rising uncertainty over India-US trade agreement. This has contributed to the weakening of the rupee which in turn is a major reason for FII outflow. US President Donald Trump's recent signal of fresh import tariffs on agricultural imports has further dampened sentiments.

Meesho's shares all set to have a strong debut

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

SHARES of e-commerce firm Meesho are likely to have a positive debut on the stock exchanges on Wednesday as they are commanding a double-digit premium in the unofficial grey market. According to platforms tracking grey market premiums, Meesho's shares are trading higher by 32% to 35% before their listing.

The SoftBank-backed firm's ₹5,421-crore initial public offering (IPO) generated massive interest from primary market investors as the issue was subscribed 79.02 times on the final day of bidding. The company raised a little over Rs 2,439 crore from anchor investors.

Meesho's IPO was priced in the range of ₹105-111 a share, valuing the company at ₹50,096 crore at the upper end of the price band.

Rupee rises 17 paise to close at 89.88 against $

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE rupee rose by 17 paise to close above 90 level against dollar on Tuesday at 89.88 as the US currency and crude oil prices retreated from their elevated levels. Forex traders said the weakness of the US dollar in the overseas market, amid expectations of a US Fed rate cut in December, supported the rupee at lower levels.

However, a negative trend in domestic equities and foreign fund outflows weighed on investor sentiment, limiting the local unit's appreciation.

At the interbank foreign exchange market, the rupee opened at 90.15 against the US dollar, down 10 paise from its previous close.

The domestic unit recovered losses and settled for the day in the positive territory at 89.88 (provisional), up by 17 paise from its last close.

On Monday, the rupee settled at 90.05 against the US dollar.

RBI chief meets bank MDs, warns against digital fraud

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RESERVE Bank of India (RBI) governor Sanjay Malhotra on Tuesday met managing directors and chief executive officers of public sector banks (PSBs) and select private sector banks in Mumbai.

The governor observed that while there has been steady improvement in the health and operations of the banking sector in 2025, banks must avoid complacency and remain vigilant in a dynamic environment.

The governor also noted that the 125 basis points repo rate cut along with greater use of technology, should translate into lower intermediation costs and higher efficiency, thereby supporting sustainable growth and deeper financial inclusion.

He emphasised on better customer service, and urged the banks to focus on reducing grievances and strengthening internal systems. Malhotra also highlighted the growing risks from digital frauds and called for more robust, intelligence-driven safeguards.

Acknowledging banks' efforts on re-KYC and unclaimed deposits, he encouraged proactive outreach and sustained awareness campaigns. He reaffirmed the Reserve Bank's consultative approach, referring to recent initiatives in consolidation and simplification of regulations.

The interaction was part of RBI's ongoing engagement with the senior management of regulated entities. The previous such meeting was held on January 27, 2025. The meeting was also attended by Deputy Governors T Rabi Sankar, Swaminathan J, Poonam Gupta and S C Murmu, along with executive directors-in-charge of supervision, regulation, enforcement, and consumer education and financial inclusion.

Rice exporters to be 'unaffected' by US tariff

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

INDIAN rice exporters will hardly be impacted even if the US imposes a new tariff on the import of rice from India, affirmed several export associations. The premium quality of Basmati rice gives India a competitive edge over other rice importing countries, and exporters believe that the US consumers will continue to buy though at an inflated price even if the tariff is imposed.

US President Donald Trump has threatened to impose new tariff on agricultural imports including Indian rice as he accuses Asian nations of dumping rice to the US.

"Out of the total exports from India, the US account for only 4.5%. Also, premium quality basmati rice is only exported from India. But the prices of it will go up in the US. In case there is additional tariff on rice, we won't have difficulties finding alternative market too," said Satish Goel, President of All India Rice Exports Association (AIREA).

During the financial year 2024-25, India exported Basmati rice worth $337.10 million to the US of 2,74,213.14 metric tonnes (MT). In the same period, India exported non-Basmati rice valued at $54.64 million of 61,341.54 MT, as per the data compiled by the Indian Rice Exporters Federation (IREF).

Indian rice in the US is primarily consumed by communities of Gulf and sub-continent ethnicity, and demand continues to expand steadily. Exports remain strictly demand-driven, with most shipments executed against advance purchase orders from US-based importers, said IREF.

Exporters plan to tap markets in the West Asia, Africa, South Asia, and Europe, regions where the demand for Indian rice keeps growing steadily. "In case tariffs do make Indian rice uncompetitive in terms of cost in the US market, we will rebalance shipments to high-potential markets like the GCC, East Africa, and Southeast Asia. Agility in sourcing, processing, and global fulfillment allows us to shift volumes at short notice without affecting buyer commitments," said Vikram Marwaha, Joint Managing Director, DRRK Foods, rice exporter.

Indian rice earlier attracted a 10% duty in the US; the levy now stands at 50% — a steep 40% jump overnight.

Yet shipments have held firm, underscoring rice's stickiness in the American consumer basket. Retail market data suggests most of the tariff shock has been passed through to US buyers, visible in pricier shelf-packs.

TAIWAN

AI DEMAND POWERS NOV EXPORTS TO FASTEST GROWTH

Taiwan's exports grew more than expected and logged their fastest growth in 15-and-a-half years in November, as worldwide demand for the island's chips and AI technology remained robust heading into the end of the year. Taiwan's exports have had uninterrupted gains for over two years, jumping 56% in November from a year earlier to $64.05 billion for a 25th consecutive monthly gain, the finance ministry said on Tuesday. In November, exports hit a record amount in dollar terms and recorded their fastest growth since May 2010. The strong showing came even though Taiwan's exports to the US are subject to a 20% tariff, which Taipei is in talks to reduce, though semiconductors are at present excluded. Taiwan's export momentum is expected to be buoyed both by the continued acceleration of AI and high-performance computing applications and the peak season of year-end shopping in Western markets, the ministry said.

CHINA

URGES TRADE PARTNERS AGAINST TARIFFS

China's Premier Li Qiang on Tuesday urged trading partners to reject rising protectionism, a day after the world's second-largest economy posted a record $1 trillion trade surplus driven by a rush of exports to non-US markets. Beijing is now facing broadening tensions with major trading partners beyond the US, which are calling on China to do more to reform its $19 trillion economy and reduce its dependence on exports to support growth. China's second-ranking official pressed the heads of the IMF, World Bank, WTO and others to strengthen global governance in response to the growing number of economies imposing levies on imported goods, China included. "Since the beginning of the year, the threat of tariffs has loomed over the global economy, with various trade restrictions proliferating and severely impacting global economic activity," Li said.

JAPAN

RISES IN LONG-TERM RATES RAPID: BOJ GOVERNOR

The Bank of Japan plans to ramp up government bond buying if long-term interest rates rise sharply, Governor Kazuo Ueda said on Tuesday, noting that the recent rate rises had been "somewhat rapid". "Recently, long-term rates have been rising at a somewhat rapid pace," Ueda told parliament, after the benchmark 10-year Japanese government bond yield hit 18-year highs this week. He also said that in exceptional circumstances, where long-term interest rates rise sharply in deviation from normal market movements, the BOJ intended to take flexible measures, such as increasing government bond purchases. On monetary policy, Ueda said the likelihood of the BOJ's baseline economic and price outlook materialising had been gradually increasing, considering reduced uncertainty around the U.S. economy and tariff policies.

Blinkit CEO sees turbulence ahead in quick commerce

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

ETERNAL Ltd-owned quick commerce platform Blinkit's Chief Executive Officer Albinder Dhindsa has said that while the sector is facing an upheaval due to a cash crunch among rivals, his company remains well-positioned to thrive and continue expanding across the country.

He noted that the quick-commerce sector has long relied on investor funding, which has now reached its limits. According to media reports, Dhindsa said companies in the segment will have to determine how long they can continue absorbing steep losses. He added that a correction in the sector could occur within the next three to six months — or even sooner.

Global investors such as SoftBank Group Corp., Temasek Holdings Pte, and sovereign wealth funds from West Asia have poured significant capital into India's fastest-growing e-commerce category. Competitors like Swiggy and Zepto are now preparing to raise funds through IPOs and other means. Swiggy's qualified institutional placement (QIP) of ₹10,000 crore opened on Tuesday, while Zepto is preparing another infusion of $450 million.

Blinkit remains unprofitable despite its strong cash reserves, as it continues to invest in entering new markets.

JCB India launches its largest excavator

ABHIJEET KABAD @ Bengaluru

JCB India launched a 52-tonne excavator, which is its largest manufacture in India for both domestic and international markets at EXCON 2025. With over 700 dealer outlets across India, the company also launched its Parts Online Portal, an e-commerce platform to ensure genuine parts are more accessible.

During the launch, CEO and MD, JCB India Deepak Shetty said, "At JCB, we believe if it is important for the customer, it is important for us. Entering new segments, improving fuel efficiency, and prioritising operator safety are not just design choices, they are the heart of JCB's engineering DNA. Every machine we launch at EXCON this year demonstrates this belief."

India pricing is technical glitch, says Starlink VP

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

SATELLITE broadband service provider Starlink announced that it has not officially released any subscription fees for users in India and that the company is not yet taking orders in the country. In a social media post, Lauren Dreyer, VP of Starlink's business operations, said that the pricing shown on the Starlink official website for residential consumers in India was due to a "config glitch that had briefly made dummy test data visible". She also added that the numbers were not accurate and that the glitch has since been fixed.

"We are eager to connect the people of India with Starlink's high-speed internet, and our teams are focused on obtaining final government approvals to turn service (and the website) on," she added.

The clarification came after Starlink had previously shared the subscription fee for residential satellite internet service in India as ₹8,600 per month, including unlimited data, a 30-day trial, and a weather-resilient service that guarantees "higher than 99.9% uptime". In India, which is known for having some of the world's lowest mobile data and broadband rates, the pricing is a bit higher. For instance, most domestic internet service providers such as Reliance Jio, Bharti Airtel, and Vodafone Idea charge a one-time installation fee of around ₹1,500 to ₹2,000, and monthly broadband plans typically range from ₹699 to ₹999.

India's PC exports doubled in a year; US among top purchasers

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

INDIA'S exports of personal computers have more than doubled in Apr-Oct 2025, rising $147.9 million to $317.6 million, as it witnessed a growth of 114.7% year-on-year expansion, revealed the data compiled by the Ministry of Commerce. The growth has been primarily driven by surge in demand from the UAE, Russia and other Asian countries like Bangladesh and Sri Lanka. However, imports of electronic items continue to rise amidst the growing exports number.

Despite several headwinds and trade tensions due to tariff, the US remained a big market for Indian PC exports. Exports went up by more than six times as it rose from $5.5 million a year ago to $37.2 million. The Ministry attributed this surge primarily to the diversion of US buyers from China due to the recent trade tensions.

The UAE has remained the dominant destination, with exports going up from $ 80.8 million to $210.1 million. UAE alone accounted for nearly 65% of the incremental growth in India's PC exports.

"India's growing PC exports to the UAE are likely supported by the country's position as a re-export hub for West Asia and Africa, along with gradually rising domestic and regional IT demand. India's competitive pricing and assembly strengths may also be helping expand its footprint in the market," stated the Ministry of Commerce.

While there has been a significant growth in the exports, India remains heavily dependent on imports for the components. According to media reports and filings by laptop and personal computer manufacturing companies like Samsung, Apple, Lenovo, Haier, the import bill has gone up significantly as compared to the previous year due to weakening rupee. Despite the electronic exports gaining momentum and emerging as one of the top export items for India, its imports remained far higher than exports.

Messi, Suarez to reunite on Mumbai ramp for a cause

Argentine football icon Lionel Messi, along with long-time strike partner Luis Suarez and Argentina midfielder Rodrigo De Paul, will walk the ramp in Mumbai "for a cause" during his India tour, the organisers of which have requested him to bring select memorabilia from their 2022 World Cup triumph for an auction. The said event is set to take place on December 14.

AS many as 350 players are set to go under the hammer for the 77 available slots in the upcoming Indian Premier League mini auction next week. Of the 350 players, 240 are Indians and 110 are overseas with 238 of them being uncapped. The mini auction is set to take place at the Etihad Arena in Abu Dhabi on December 16. A look....

Names to miss out

Jason Roy, Harry Brook and Ben Stokes could not register for the auction as they had skipped the previous mega auction. As per the new rule, if an overseas player had not registered for the mega auction they cannot feature in the mini one. In case of Brook, pulling out for personal reasons for two consecutive years meant he was handed a two-year ban. Glenn Maxwell retired from IPL.

Shaw in first set

Sarfaraz Khan and Prithvi Shaw, two out of favour players at the moment, are in the first set of players to go under the hammer. Both went unsold in the mega auction last year but at least one of them is expected to find a team this time. The set also features Devon Conway, David Miller and Cam Green.

Time for finishing touch before IPL

SRH	₹25.5 crore
RR	₹16.05 crore
PBKS	₹11.5 crore
MI	₹2.75 crore
RCB	₹16. crore
GT	₹12.9 crore

WHEN December 16, 2025

WHERE Etihad Arena, Abu Dhabi

350 No. of players to go under the hammer on December 16

77 No of slots available across ten teams

Indian pacers for taking

From Akash Deep to Chetan Sakariya to Akash Madhwal to Simarjeet Singh to Auqib Nabi, there are a handful of Indian pacers in the auction teams will be going after. Ashok Sharma of Rajasthan has done well in the ongoing Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy and may get a look in along with the likes of Kartik Tyagi.

De Kock latest addition

Wicketkeeper-batter Quinton de Kock, who recently came out of his ODI retirement, has been kept at a base price of ₹1 crore and not ₹2 crore like most international stars. The list also includes Australia batter Steve Smith at a base price of ₹2 crore. Smith last played in the IPL in 2021. England's Ben Duckett also slotted in as keeper-batter for ₹2 crore.

Stars in auction

Apart from those already mentioned, expect Matheesha Pathirana to go for big money while someone like Liam Livingstone could be garner attraction in the absence of Glenn Maxwell. Then there is Venkatesh Iyer, Spencer Johnson, Gerald Coetzee and the likes of Alzarri Joseph and Shamar Joseph. Overseas pacers and all-rounders will be key.

50-strong family contingent behind Germany's ascent

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

AS another familiar wave of Germany attack overpowered the Indian team in their daze in the semifinals of the junior men's World Cup on Sunday, all the noise at the Mayor Radhakrishnan Stadium came from a small pocket. A small army of supporters were either banging some makeshift drums or whistling to their hearts content.

Even as the majority of spectators wore expressions that wouldn't have been out of place at a poker tournament for the majority of the game, this small section created quite the din. The only time they had stopped making noise was when the match was over. When they weren't busy banging their musical instruments, they were jiving to Tamil numbers the DJ had played during breaks in play.

The source of their happiness lied in watching their sons, brothers or boyfriends tear the home team apart. Even as the hosts' dream lay in tatters, for the 50-strong German contingent — mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and girlfriends — this was going to be a special night. "There are 50 of us here," says Martin Steinebach, Ferdinand's father. On the field, Ferdinand has emerged as one of the key performers for the junior set-up. Off the field, Martin has ensured his son doesn't have to worry about anything. "I have come from Cologne for the World Cup. Really overwhelmed by how well the tournament has been organised, also have to appreciate the crowd tonight (Sunday). I hope the crowd cheers for us against Spain on Wednesday."

A lot of families have travelled to the junior World Cup (Spain, the other finalists, will also have a contingent in the stands) but nobody has travelled like the Germans. "Among us, there are parents, siblings and girlfriends," Martin says. "I started planning for the trip in August but I booked my tickets and stuff when I knew for sure when my son would be part of the team." Even though the families planned individually, there was always going to be a sense of collectivism between them. They sit together and have done some shopping and sight-seeing together. It's normal because they do have meet-ups around their sons' hockey activities in Germany as well.

If Martin, who works in banking, has had to take off from his work to make this possible, the Wex family have used the tournament to have a mini family reunion of sorts.

CAN HOSTS SECURE BRONZE?

The Indian team was brutally exposed across 60 minutes in the semifinal against Germany. What will the third place match against Argentina bring? Talking points...

WHAT NEXT FOR SREEJESH

PR Sreejesh was given the gig amid much fanfare and hype. While the juniors have won a few events this was always going to be big one. Irrespective of what happens on Wednesday, there will be a sense of disappointment. Will the legendary former goalkeeper hang around or will he decide to walk to further his coaching career elsewhere?

INDIA VS ARGENTINA, 3RD PLACE PLAY-OFF
Live on Star Sports and JioHotstar, 5.30 PM

PRINCEDEEP WILL BE IN THE SENIOR SET-UP

When India won the junior World Cup in 2016, it gave the senior team a number of players. Harmanpreet Singh became captain, Mandeep Singh remains part of the forward line even now while the likes of Gurjant and Simranjeet won medals at the Olympics. One player who's likely to make a similar step-up is Princedeep, the custodian who has excelled.

SENSE OF INJUSTICE MAY FUEL ARGENTINA

In the other semifinal, Argentina felt they were robbed in their game against Spain. A very controversial video referral saw them concede a goal when a penalty corner would have been the fairer call. Even otherwise, the South American outfit they have been unfairly treated by the officials all tournament.

We just didn't play well. We are of course motivated to win bronze. There's no use crying over this result. We will go again in the bronze medal match (against Argentina).

Comeback hero Hardik

Returning star's all-round show highlight of India's win in 1st T20I

ENS @ Cuttack

MAKING a comeback to the Indian team after a left quadriceps injury, Hardik Pandya stole the show with an all-round performance as hosts beat South Africa by 101 runs in Cuttack on Tuesday.

He came into bat when India were struggling at 78/4 and took the attack to South Africa, smashing an unbeaten 59 from 28 balls. Later with the ball, he took one wicket for 16 runs. Helping Pandya get going was Axar Patel, who hit 23 from 21 balls. On a pitch where everyone else struggled, Pandya dominated the Proteas bowlers with ease. He hit four sixes and six boundaries as India took control of the proceedings. It helped India post 175/6 in 20 overs. In response, South Africa were all out for 74 in 12.3 overs. "Hardik is the key player of our team. With vast experience under his belt, always guided the team in right direction to register win," Jitesh Sharma said after the match. Brief scores: India 175/6 in 20 ovs (Pandya 59 n.o; Ngidi 3/31) bt SA 74 in 12.3 ovs (Axar 2/7, Arshdeep 2/14).

In what promises to be an enticing contest, 15-time champions Real Madrid will face Manchester City at the Bernabeu in the Champions League. A look at Wednesday's set of fixtures...

REAL MADRID VS MAN CITY | 1:30 AM | IST THURSDAY

Kylian Mbappe did not train on Tuesday and he's doubtful for the City tie. If Mbappe misses out, the onus will be on the likes of Jude Bellingham, Vinicius Junior to deliver. City enter the tie on the back of a big win over Sunderland. Phil Foden has looked a renewed man and he'll be hoping to make an impact. And one can't forget Erling Haaland, who has 20 goals in 20 games (all comps).

CLUB BRUGGE VS ARSENAL | 1:30 AM | IST THURSDAY

Arsenal suffered a rare setback in their most-recent outing against Aston Villa and Mikel Arteta's men will be hoping to produce a strong response against the Belgian club, who have toiled so far this season. After a string of poor results, the club parted ways with coach Nicky Hayen and replaced him with former coach Ivan Leko.

Wednesday's other matches (1:30 am | IST Thursday unless stated): Qarabag vs Ajax (11:15pm); Villarreal vs Copenhagen (11:15 pm); Leverkusen vs Newcastle; Benfica vs Napoli; Athletic Club vs PSG; Juventus vs Pafos; Dortmund vs Bodo/Glimt.

Satomi's pursuit of happiness with coach-cum-fiance by her side

CHANDRA PRABHU @ Chennai

AFTER becoming the first Japanese to reach PSA tour finals last year, World No 6 Satomi Watanabe did not have the best of starts this year. She struggled with an injury and could not replicate the form she displayed then. In these difficult times, it was coach and fiance Taiki Kaido who played a key role in getting Satomi back to her best.

Hailing from Yokohama region in Japan, the 26-year-old took up the sport when she was eight and went to Malaysia at 12. Watanabe and Kaido first met when they were 10 and 15, respectively, in Yokohama through the sport. Kaido, who suffered injuries to his lower back, switched to coaching at an early age of 21. "It was six years ago when he asked me out, and we have been having a good relationship," Watanabe said. Kaido became Watanabe's coach a year ago while he was the designated national coach.

One thing that is crucial to their relationship is how Kaido lends his ears to a "talkative" Watanabe. "He understands my personality well, and he knows how to advise me the right way. He advises in a way where I can put that into my game," she said, after a hard-fought victory over Iran's Fereshteh Eghtedari in a group stage tie of the ongoing World Cup here on Tuesday. She pulled off the win without Kaido's presence as he had to take a step back from the team due to player availability issues. "He also had some work in Japan, too."

"I'm still going to be in touch with him. We will talk throughout this tournament. So, I think it would not affect too much," she explained.

RESULTS: Pool A: Hong Kong, China 4-0 South Korea; Pool B: India 4-0 Switzerland; Pool D: Japan 4-0 IR Iran.

WEDNESDAY'S FIXTURES: Australia vs Poland (10.30am), Egypt vs Iran (1.00pm), Brazil vs Switzerland (3.30pm), South Africa vs Korea (6.00 pm), Malaysia vs Poland (8.30 pm).

Kaido as coach

Sports at the elite level is demanding. Training sessions can get monotonous and add to frustrations of athletes. Watanabe is not immune to this. Kaido has been her balm during those times. She recalled one such instance when results were not going in her favour. "I didn't start quite well at the beginning of the season. I was struggling with my squash, my body and everything. Even during training, I was not in a good mood. It is hard for me to listen to someone, not because it is him or anyone. Then, after the session, he will spend loads of time talking to me," she said.

INDIA CALL-UP

Horoscope-vision for all-rounder Vaishnavi

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

IT is not always that parents follow predictions in horoscopes blindly to chart the future of their children. However, Narendra Sharma, who has a PhD in Astrology, and his wife Asha were never in doubt about the future of their second child — a daughter — the day she was born on December 18, 2005.

Given his unshakeable faith in positions of celestial bodies and how they influence everyone's lives, Narendra, an astrology professor at the Jiwaji University, Gwalior, decided to go by Kundli (horoscope) of his daughter, who was named Vaishnavi. The horoscope forecasted Vaishnavi will excel either in medical field or sports and the parents chose the latter.

The trust paid dividends as Vaishnavi, a left-hand batter and slow left-arm orthodox bowler, made her India U19 debut earlier this year and received her maiden call-up for the senior squad announced on Tuesday for the upcoming T20I series against Sri Lanka

"If you become a doctor, the district or the city will recognise you but if you succeed in sports, the world will know you," the father told this daily when enquired about why he preferred sports over another career option. And it was not only Vaishnavi, her elder brother Ashendra chose engineering going by his horoscope and has set up a business in Indore after completing engineering from a college in Gwalior. "He was offered a package of ₹25 lakh per annum after completing his degree but he refused it to set up his own business. It's all in the stars for our family," added Narendra.

As the family was clear about Vaishnavi's future, they zeroed down on cricket in the due course of time. Once again the horoscope helped them choose the sport. "She started playing at the age of four. I used to bowl to her and keep wickets when she was bowling. Her mother would also help her. The left-arm spin came natural to her. We used to take her to a cricket ground here in the city. Later, she started training at Tansen Academy under coach Lovekesh Chaudhary."

Speaking on whether he was in any doubt, during the growing years of Vaishnavi, the father said it's a gift God has given him and he has never doubted it. "It was God's gift to us. I got a degree in the subject later. So I never had no doubt on my decisions related to my children." What made the decision more important was the fact that Vaishnavi is the first sportsperson from the family. Now, she will be part of the five-match series starting on December 21.

Red-letter day for Kamalini & family

GOMESH S @ Chennai

WHEN G Kamalini landed in Chennai on Tuesday evening after Tamil Nadu lost to Karnataka in the women's U23 quarterfinal two days ago, little did she knew the evening would turn into an unforgettable one. The 17-year-old got her maiden India call-up for the upcoming T20I series against Sri Lanka.

Emotions engulfed the Gunalan-Saranya household. Tears of joy overflowed, hugs were exchanged in jubilation. "I couldn't believe it," an ecstatic Saranya, Kamalini's mother, tells this daily. "I was very happy and emotional. Both of us hugged each other and kissed each other. I was very happy. I can't tell you how happy I was. What else can I say? All we wanted to do is shout and enjoy ourselves."

G Kamalini (2nd L) with her family

This call-up comes on the back of a stellar performance in the U23 T20s. The keeper-batter smashed 275 runs in six matches, averaging 55 with a strike rate of 138.88 as Tamil Nadu reached the quarterfinals. With Arundhati Reddy already donning the No 20 (Kamalini's usual No in domestic and WPL teams), the 17-year-old will sport No 16, birthday of her brother Domnic Kishore.

Saranya struggles to put words to her emotion. "She got a call about jersey number shortly after she landed, but we got to know only when the squad was announced," an elated Saranya says. "At 16, she made her WPL debut and now at 17, she has gotten the India call-up. It is a great opportunity for her. It is a reward and recognition for her father's hard work and pappa's (our daughter's) talent. I am very happy. I don't have any words to say," she adds.

Squad: Harmanpreet (C), Mandhana (VC), Deepti, Rana, Rodrigues, Verma, Deol, Amanjot, Arundhati, Kranti, Renuka, Richa (WK), Kamalini (WK), Sree Charani, Vaishnavi.

Chen's group has been building robotic insects for more than five years | THE SOFT AND MICRO ROBOTICS LABORATORY

MIT ENGINEERS' DESIGN

AN AERIAL MICROROBOT THAT CAN FLY AS FAST AS A BUMBLEBEE

With insect-like speed and agility, the tiny robot could someday aid in search-and-rescue missions

ADAM ZEWE | MIT NEWS

IN the future, tiny flying robots could be deployed to aid in the search for survivors trapped beneath the rubble after a devastating earthquake. Like real insects, these robots could flit through tight spaces larger robots can't reach, while simultaneously dodging stationary obstacles and pieces of falling rubble.

So far, aerial microrobots have only been able to fly slowly along smooth trajectories, far from the swift, agile flight of real insects — until now.

MIT researchers have demonstrated aerial microrobots that can fly with speed and agility that is comparable to their biological counterparts. A collaborative team designed a new AI-based controller for the robotic bug that enabled it to follow gymnastic flight paths, such as executing continuous body flips. With a two-part control scheme that combines high performance with computational efficiency, the robot's speed and acceleration increased by about 450 percent and 250 percent, respectively, compared to the researchers' best previous demonstrations.

The speedy robot was agile enough to complete 10 consecutive somersaults in 11 seconds, even when wind disturbances threatened to push it off course. "We want to be able to use these robots in scenarios that more traditional quad copter robots would have trouble flying into, but that insects could navigate. Now, with our bioinspired control framework, the flight performance of our robot is comparable to insects in terms of speed, acceleration, and the pitching angle. This is quite an exciting step toward that future goal," says Kevin Chen, an associate professor in the Department of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science (EECS), head of the Soft and Micro Robotics Laboratory within the Research Laboratory of Electronics (RLE), and co-senior author of a paper on the robot.

Chen is joined on the paper by co-lead authors Yi-Hsuan Hsiao, an EECS MIT graduate student; Andrea Tagliabue PhD '24; and Owen Matteson, a graduate student in the Department of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AeroAstro); as well as EECS graduate student Suhan Kim; Tong Zhao MEng '23; and co-senior author Jonathan P. How, the Ford Professor of Engineering in the Department of Aeronautics and Astronautics and a principal investigator in the Laboratory for Information and Decision Systems (LIDS). The research appeared in Science Advances on December 3.

AN AI CONTROLLER

Chen's group has been building robotic insects for more than five years. They recently developed a more durable version of their tiny robot, a microcassette-sized device that weighs less than a paperclip. The new version utilizes larger, flapping wings that enable more agile movements. They are powered by a set of squishy artificial muscles that flap the wings at an extremely fast rate.

But the controller — the "brain" of the robot that determines its position and tells it where to fly — was hand-tuned by a human, limiting the robot's performance.

For the robot to fly quickly and aggressively like a real insect, it needed a more robust controller that could account for uncertainty and perform complex optimizations quickly. Such a controller would be too computationally intensive to be deployed in real time, especially with the complicated aerodynamics of the lightweight robot.

To overcome this challenge, Chen's group joined forces with How's team and, together, they crafted a two-step, AI-driven control scheme that provides the robustness necessary for complex, rapid maneuvers, and the computational efficiency needed for real-time deployment. "The hardware advances pushed the controller so there was more we could do on the software side, but at the same time, as the controller developed, there was more they could do with the hardware. As Kevin's team demonstrates new capabilities, we demonstrate that we can utilize them," How says.

For the first step, the team built what is known as a model-predictive controller. This type of powerful controller uses a dynamic, mathematical model to predict the behavior of the robot and plan the optimal series of actions to safely follow a trajectory. While computationally intensive, it can plan challenging maneuvers like aerial somersaults, rapid turns, and aggressive body tilting. This high-performance planner is also designed to consider constraints on the force and torque the robot could apply, which is essential for avoiding collisions. For instance, to perform multiple flips in a row, the robot would need to decelerate in such a way that its initial conditions are exactly right for doing the flip again.

"If small errors creep in, and you try to repeat that flip 10 times with those small errors, the robot will just crash. We need to have robust flight control," How says. They use this expert planner to train a "policy" based on a deep-learning model, to control the robot in real time, through a process called imitation learning. A policy is the robot's decision-making engine, which tells the robot where and how to fly.

Essentially, the imitation-learning process compresses the powerful controller into a computationally efficient AI model that can run very fast.

The key was having a smart way to create just enough training data, which would teach the policy everything it needs to know for aggressive maneuvers. "The robust training method is the secret sauce of this technique," How explains.

The AI-driven policy takes robot positions as inputs and outputs control commands in real time, such as thrust force and torques.

INSECT-LIKE PERFORMANCE

In their experiments, this two-step approach enabled the insect-scale robot to fly 447 percent faster while exhibiting a 255 percent increase in acceleration. The robot was able to complete 10 somersaults in 11 seconds, and the tiny robot never strayed more than 4 or 5 centimeters off its planned trajectory.

"This work demonstrates that soft and microrobots, traditionally limited in speed, can now leverage advanced control algorithms to achieve agility approaching that of natural insects and larger robots, opening up new opportunities for multimodal locomotion," says Hsiao. The researchers were also able to demonstrate saccade movement, which occurs when insects pitch very aggressively, fly rapidly to a certain position, and then pitch the other way to stop. This rapid acceleration and deceleration help insects localize themselves and see clearly. "This bio-mimicking flight behavior could help us in the future when we start putting cameras and sensors on board the robot," Chen says.

Adding sensors and cameras so the microrobots can fly outdoors, without being attached to a complex motion capture system, will be a major area of future work.

The researchers also want to study how onboard sensors could help the robots avoid colliding with one another or coordinate navigation.

"For the micro-robotics community, I hope this paper signals a paradigm shift by showing that we can develop a new control architecture that is high-performing and efficient at the same time," says Chen.

"This work is especially impressive because these robots still perform precise flips and fast turns despite the large uncertainties that come from relatively large fabrication tolerances in small-scale manufacturing, wind gusts of more than 1 meter per second, and even its power tether wrapping around the robot as it performs repeated flips," says Sarah Bergbreiter, a professor of mechanical engineering at Carnegie Mellon University, who was not involved with this work.

"Although the controller currently runs on an external computer rather than onboard the robot, the authors demonstrate that similar, but less precise, control policies may be feasible even with the more limited computation available on an insect-scale robot. This is exciting because it points toward future insect-scale robots with agility approaching that of their biological counterparts," she adds. This research is funded, in part, by the National Science Foundation (NSF), the Office of Naval Research, Air Force Office of Scientific Research, MathWorks, and the Zakhartchenko Fellowship.

All-rounder Shreyanka Patil on Sunday swapped her cricket jersey for a chic ensemble as she attended a fun chess event in the city, where she spoke to CE about her much-awaited comeback after months of recuperating from injury

PIC: CHETHAN K

'WILL BE BACK WITH MASALA IN MY BOWLING'

SRUTHI HEMACHANDRAN

FOR Shreyanka Patil, pressure has become a familiar companion rather than a burden. The off-spinner, who emerged as Royal Challengers Bengaluru's (RCB) leading wicket-taker and Purple Cap winner during their Women's Premier League (WPL) title run in 2024, approaches high-stakes moments with calm, shaped by preparation. "Before I bowl, especially when I feel I'm under pressure, I take a moment, breathe and smile. When you smile, your nerves ease down," says Patil, her composure evident even as she speaks.

Bowling across phases, Patil (23) is often trusted in difficult overs. When it comes to structuring her training, she mirrors it with match-day stress. "The way I practise is mostly based on what I face on a game day. Practising under pressure has helped me reach a stage where I believe I can do it," she says. That belief, Patil feels, is as vital as skill. These ideas of anticipation and strategy were echoed during her recent appearance at the Chess and Chill night at the RCB Bar and Cafe, hosted by Fyers American Gambits. Over 70 chess players gathered for an evening that marked probably the first cafe-style chess event on this scale.

Walking into the cafe, Patil stole the spotlight with her chic ensemble – a double bow solid black tube top and pleat-heavy white trousers, that complimented her golden accessories. Watching boards fill the space, Patil drew natural parallels, as she says, "You have to be in it. It's the same as any other sport, where you have to be mentally focused, do your preparations well and know what your opponent is good at. The key is understanding your sport and yourself. Strategy, of course, is important in chess or cricket. When it comes to cricket, we obviously study patterns. In chess, too, there are certain moves players are good at. It always goes back to preparation and practice."

Talking about getting the jitters before the city event where she had to play a game of chess and interact with players, she says, "Firstly, I was nervous, because if you put me on a cricket field, I know I'm going to actually come out of any situation. For the past couple of days, I've been practising chess on my iPad. Even when I go to bed, I'm like 'okay let me just win this'."

Her defining moment in cricket came during RCB's title-winning WPL 2024 season. Reminiscing the big moment, she says, lifting the cup, the eliminator where her team played against the Mumbai Indians and her getting Harmanpreet Kaur out in her final over changed the whole game. That wicket shifted momentum and soon after came the trophy and the Purple Cap, marking a breakthrough season that established her as one the league's standout performers.

Patil's journey, however, hasn't been uninterrupted. The season that followed proved testing, with injury forcing her away from competitive cricket, including the ICC Women's World Cup 2025. However, the setback offered perspective, reinforcing the importance of trust and patience. Much of her confidence comes from the environment RCB has fostered. "Being a death specialist (for her skill in bowling crucial overs), if they hadn't given me that opportunity, I wouldn't even know I could do it. Understanding the game better and being put into situations I'm good at shaped me," Patil admits.

Over three WPL seasons,the franchise backed her in high-pressure moment, helping her grow not just as a bowler but as a decision maker. That trust carried into her transition to the international stage. For Patil, timing and backing have worked in tandem, allowing her to take responsibility with conviction. "When I went on to play for India, I felt ready. I'm happy that the platform came at the right time," she says. Being part of a franchise that celebrates multiple sports resonates with her. "I've followed RCB's social media page growing up. They were always into something interesting, and that's not just cricket. Doing a lot of stuff off the field is something that's been eye-catchy. They were always about more than just cricket," Patil adds.

Currently working on her next big tournament, with recovery behind her and competitive cricket back in sight, Patil keeps her cards close. "It's a secret until you watch the game," she laughs. "It's been 10-14 months now and nobody has seen me. I'll be back with some masala in my bowling. Being a spinner, you have to have at least few variations handy. I'm working towards it and I would love to execute them in the games as well," concludes Patil.

THE QUIZ WILL BE PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz'

Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE.

1. History of NIMHANS dates back to 1838 when Dr Charles Irving Smith, a medical officer at the Hospital for Soldiers created a separate ward for 'insane native patients' at the hospital premises at Cantonment and which was later shifted to a new facility near pete (old city area) known as the Lunatic Asylum in 1850. The name was changed to Mental Hospital in 1925 and was shifted to the present premises on Hosur road in 1937. In 1974 NIMHANS was established. Expand NIMHANS.

2. Victoria Hospital was built during the reign of the Maharani Regent of Mysore, Kempa Nanjammani Vani Vilasa Sannidhana (mother of Maharaja Krishnaraja Wadiyar), who laid the foundation stone for the hospital in 1897 commemorating 60 years of Queen Victoria's rule. The hospital was inaugurated in 1900 by Lord Curzon, the Viceroy of India. Name the historic monument that stands next to the entrance of the hospital: Bangalore Fort Gate or Tipu Sultan's Armoury.

3. Minto Ophthalmic Hospital, Benglauru's first specialty eye hospital and perhaps one of the oldest in the world, had its humble beginning with a small dispensary in Chickpet area in 1896. It was moved to Lalbagh lodge for a brief period and was later shifted to the present iconic building in 1913. Where is the hospital presently located: Malleswaram or Chamarajpet?

HERE IS A HOLISTIC STRATEGY FOR MANAGING BLOOD PRESSURE

High blood pressure is often called as the silent killer which affects millions and raises the risk of heart disease, stroke, and kidney problems. But there is a way to control your blood pressure through simple lifestyle changes such as integrating movement, mindful breathing, and balanced living.

MOVE: THE POWER OF PHYSICAL ACTIVITY

Regular exercise is among the most effective natural way to intervene the hypertension. Activities like walking, cycling, swimming, or dancing, strengthens the heart and improves blood circulation. The heart becomes more efficient to pump blood, lowering any chance of pressure on the blood vessels. Even a mix of aerobic sessions with occasional strength training can reduce blood pressure.

BREATHE: MANAGING STRESS THROUGH MIND-BODY WORK

The trigger for blood pressure is generally chronic stress. Simple breathing exercises or mindfulness routines like deep diaphragmatic breathing, gentle yoga or meditation can help the body relax. This calms the nervous system, reducing the stress hormones and lowering the heart rate. Practiced regularly, these techniques support vascular health and can contribute to sustained reductions in blood pressure.

LIFESTYLE HABITS THAT SUPPORT HEALTHY BP

Beyond movement and breathwork, blood-pressure management benefits significantly from holistic lifestyle adjustments:

- Diet: Reducing salt intake and favouring potassium-rich foods (leafy greens, bananas, sweet potatoes) can ease pressure on blood vessels.
- Hydration: Adequate water intake supports vascular function and helps prevent dehydration – which can exacerbate hypertension.
- Weight management: Even a moderate reduction in body weight (5-10%) can ease cardiovascular load and reduce BP.
- Sleep & stress moderation: Sufficient restful sleep, balanced work–life rhythm, and stress mitigation further support stable blood pressure.

Blood pressure doesn't always require medication. A lifestyle approach that blends movement, breathing, and balanced living can help with the blood pressure. For many, this balance becomes a long-term, manageable path toward healthier cardiovascular well-being.

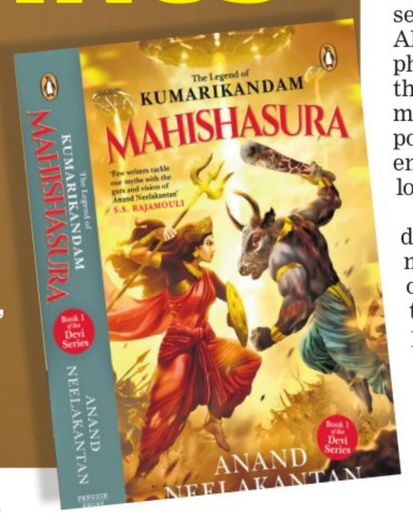
M'AI'THOLOGICAL MUSINGS

In his latest offering, author Anand Neelakantan reimagines a reality where devotion and destruction collide, and science and ancient wisdom take a new form



ANUSHREE MADHAVAN

EVERY year, during Navaratri, the story of Mahishasura reminds us of the Devi's power and her abolishing evil. In Anand Neelakantan's Mahishasura: The Legend of Kumarikandam (Penguin, ₹499), we see the creation of the demon, a Shakti who doesn't know her powers, and a reality which is just a simulation. He weaves science and mythology in the first book of The Devi series.

Set 70,000 years ago in the now submerged land of Kumari Kandam, Neelakantan's book is a reimagination of popular puranas, and Tamil texts. The gods are playing a game, the asuras are showing the prowess in science and tech, and the humans live their life carefree until a force threatens to upend their lives. Contrary to popular stories, it is not an evil force alone, a much larger plan is afoot. Hence, Devi, in the form of Meenakshi, steps in.

The world-building in this book is far more complex than the Bahubali universe Neelakantan created and far tougher than the Asura or Ajaya series, which were retellings. He explores a new genre in this interview. Excerpts:

Tell us about your vision for The Devi Series.

The Devi has fascinated me because she is the only force in Indian mythology that unites creation and destruction without an apology. In the Devi Mahatmyam and Devi Purana, the goddess is not born; she manifests when the universe cannot protect itself. That idea, of a force beyond gods and demons, beyond good and evil, stayed with me for years.

When I began conceptualising The Devi Series, I realised that every civilisation has its own memory of a mother goddess who rises from ruins. The Sanskrit puranas, especially the Matsya Purana, speak of a great flood that destroyed earlier worlds, leaving behind only those saved by Manu. What attracted me was the possibility that these are not separate stories at all, but two cultural memories of the same calamity. The Devi Series is my attempt to explore this forgotten intersection, where the feminine divine becomes the memory-keeper of a lost world. Through the Legend of Kumarikandam, I am trying to fuse these two fascinating worlds together.

Why did you weave sci-fi and mythology?

The fusion of science fiction and mythology came naturally when I began reading the Matsya Purana alongside Tamil legends of Kumarikandam. The story speaks of Manu, a Dravida king, who is warned of an impending cosmic flood and is guided by the Matsya, and finds a new land and the Vedic civilisation. We can see parallels to this flood myth in the Bible as the legend of Noah's ark, and almost all major mythologies across the world have some version of this legend. Tamil lore speaks of a landmass that housed early Sangam culture, now lost beneath the sea. When two entirely different traditions describe a similar disaster, a storyteller's mind begins to ask whether these memories are fragments of a much older human drama. And what if the flood myth prevalent across the world is a collective memory of this ancient trauma?

The moment I imagined devas and asuras as technologically advanced beings in a prehistoric world – a world that might itself be a simulation – the story found its own momentum. It was not an attempt to mix genres; it was simply following the trail our ancestors left behind, and asking what happens if we interpret their metaphors through the lens of modern science.

There are traces of AI and several technologies in the narrative. What was your research like?

The challenge was to place Artificial Intelligence in a world set in 70,000 BC without turning it into fantasy. To do that, I had to research not only current AI systems but also the philosophical questions they raise about autonomy, creation, ethics and the possibility that intelligence can emerge in layers, whether biological or digital.

Simultaneously, I delved deeply into ancient Indian cosmology. The Upanishads speak of the self observing itself through layers of reality. The puranas describe universes created and dissolved in cycles, like simulations, re-run endlessly. When I studied simulation theorists and quantum physicists, I found an uncanny resonance with these ancient ideas.

Researching Kumarikandam was equally important. While not accepted as historical fact, it survives vividly in Tamil folklore, in Sangam literature, and in the collective consciousness of south Indian coastal communities. These sources describe an advanced maritime culture, a sophisticated society of scholars, astronomers, and seafarers. This gave me a framework within which advanced technologies could exist not as anachronisms, but as the remnants of a forgotten age.

By merging these research threads, the AI in my novel becomes neither magic nor science fiction in the Western sense. Instead, it becomes a continuity of our cultural imagination, where technology, myth, and philosophy are different names for the same human longing to understand creation.

The book deals with the dilemma of science versus spirituality. What would you like readers to take away from this?

I believe science and spirituality are two attempts to decode the same mystery. When a physicist speaks about a universe that may be a mathematical structure, and a sage speaks about maya, both are grappling with a reality that refuses to reveal itself fully. Our civilisation never separated knowledge into silos, the rishis were both philosophers and scientists in their own way.

The conflict between science and spirituality arises only when each side assumes its language is superior. But if we look deeper, we see that both are describing a universe where consciousness plays a central role. The ancient stories of the Devi, the notions of cosmic cycles, the idea that the universe is created from sound or vibration – all these align in fascinating ways with modern theories of energy, information and simulation.

What I want readers to take away is not a definitive answer but a sense of wonder.

What's next in the series?

The Devi Series will continue to expand the universe I have begun building and will continue to the world of Karthikeya and Shiva purana, albeit based on the Tamil puranic traditions rather than the Sanskrit ones. However, I consider The Devi Series as the gateway into a vast story universe. It leaves me enough space to explore the origins of the devas, the forgotten rebellions of the asuras, and the hidden architecture of the simulated cosmos they inhabit. The genre will remain the same, but the scope is larger.

Aishwarya Rajesh to join Dhruva Sarja and Rachita Ram in Criminal

Directed by Rajguru, the film marks the Kannada debut of the South Indian actor

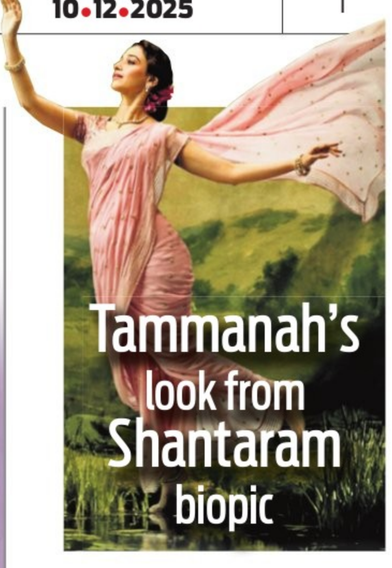
A SHARADHAA

WE had earlier reported that Rachita Ram will reunite with Dhruva Sarja after eight years for a film directed by Rajguru. The reunion was confirmed during the muhurath, and Rachita herself was present at the film's launch, which was held last month. Titled Criminal, the film is produced by Manish Shah of Goldmines Telefilms. While the makers are preparing to commence shooting sometime this month, the latest development in the project is that South Indian actor Aishwarya Rajesh has joined its cast.

Aishwarya, best known for appearing in Tamil, Telugu, and Malayalam films, was initially expected to make her Kannada debut with Dhananjay and Shivarajkumar's Uttarakaanda, directed by Rohit Padaki. However, that project has now been delayed, and sources reveal that Criminal will mark her debut in Kannada, as well as her first collaboration with Dhruva Sarja.

Set against a rural backdrop, Criminal combines drama and high-octane action, rooted in a narrative inspired by real events. The recently released title teaser provides a glimpse of the setting and tone, hinting at a story that balances emotion with gripping action sequences. Rajguru, who made his directorial debut with Kerebete, returns with this sophomore effort.

Apart from Kannada, Criminal is also set to release in Tamil, Telugu, Malayalam and Hindi. The film has music by Chandan Shetty, cinematography by Ravi Varma, and action sequences choreographed by Vikram Mor. While the makers gradually unveil the rest of the cast, an official announcement regarding Aishwarya Rajesh's inclusion is expected soon.



Tammanah's look from Shantaram biopic

CE FEATURES

Earlier, we informed that Siddhant Chaturvedi will be essaying the role of filmmaker and social reformer V. Shantaram in his biopic. On Tuesday, the makers announced that Tamannaah Bhatia will also be part of the film and will be playing yesteryear actress Jayashree in the film, known for movies like Dr Kotnis ki Amar Kahani (1946), Shakuntala (1943), and Dahej (1950), among others. She was also the second wife of Shantaram.

Talking about the role, Tamannaah said in a statement, "It's a great responsibility to portray a character rooted in one of the most influential eras of our cinema. And I feel immensely honoured to bring to life Jayashree, as she has been part of such legendary projects, and the amount of grace she had was surreal." She added, "Shantaram built a legacy that continues to shape generations, and decoding his universe has allowed me to witness the brilliance of the man behind the legend."

Landlord sets up a smouldering hero-villain duel between Vijay Kumar and Raj B Shetty

Landlord, directed by Jadeshaa K Hampi, unveils Raj B Shetty in his first full-fledged antagonist role, pitting him opposite Duniya Vijay and also stars Rachita Ram

CE FEATURES

TEAM Landlord has been rolling out its character reveals with theatrical flair, beginning with lead actor Vijay Kumar, followed by Rachita Ram. Now, the makers have dropped the most talked-about reveal yet, the character look of Raj B Shetty as The Ruler. It marks the actor-filmmaker's first full-fledged antagonist role in Kannada cinema, written by Jadeshaa K Hampi, the director of the film.

Landlord brings together Duniya Vijay and Raj B Shetty in their maiden collaboration. Jadeshaa says this dynamic was embedded in the script from the very beginning. "I knew my villain needed real weight. Think Vijay Sethupathi opposite Kamal Haasan in Vikram, Fahadh Faasil in Pushpa 2, or Biju Menon opposite Prithviraj in Ayyappanum Koshiyum. My story demanded that level of intensity. Raj's character isn't a stock villain. He is a family man with emotions and his own journey. But his principles stand in direct conflict with Vijay Kumar's survival instinct. Raj is the ruler, Vijay is the survivor, and the law becomes their battleground, all set against a raw village backdrop"

Produced by KV Sathyaprakash and Hemanth Gowda K S under the Saarathi Films banner, the film is currently slated for a theatrical release on 23 January. Raj B Shetty says the director was his biggest reason for coming on board. "I genuinely want directors to win. In this film, I play someone from an oppressive class, a man who will go to any extent for power." He also shares a light-hearted anecdote. "Jadeshaa said the character needed hair. I asked him, 'Are you sure?' Wigs rarely cooperate with me. When I saw the teaser, it felt perfect," he chuckles. Raj adds that his dialogues are in the Kolar dialect and praises his first-time collaboration with Duniya Vijay. "It was a delight. I hope this film brings good fortune to the producers."

Vijay, meanwhile, recalls their early days. "Twenty years ago, I walked in with two tomatoes and fifteen rupees. Raj came with an egg. We were mocked then. Today, I'm the Survivor, and he's the Ruler." The cast also includes Bhavana Rao. With dialogues by Maasti, Srikanth, and Manjunath, Landlord has music by B Ajaneesh Loknath, cinematography by Swami J Gowda, and editing by K M Prakash.

'Directing for the first time felt like bringing an old dream to life'

Moog Suresh, who is best known for his comedic roles, with over 450 films, is now stepping into the director's chair for the first time

CE FEATURES

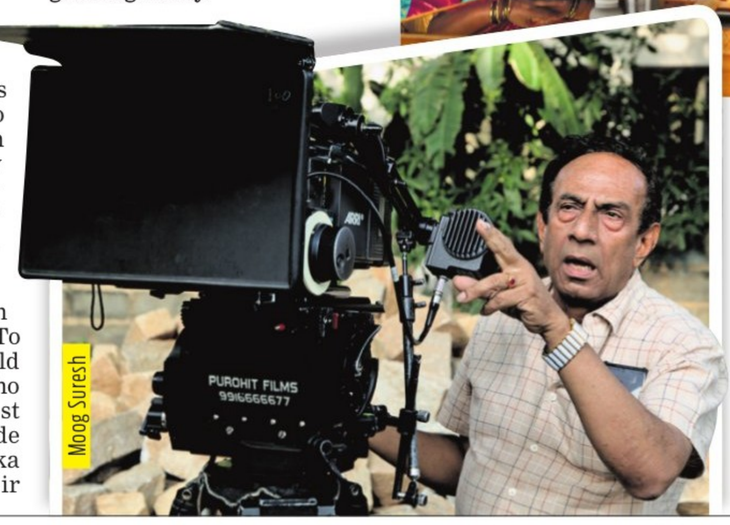
FOR more than forty years, Moog Suresh has made audiences smile the moment he appeared on screen. With over 450 films, he became one of Kannada cinema's most loved comedy actors, the kind of performer who could lift even a quiet scene with his timing. Now, after decades in front of the camera, Suresh is stepping behind the camera to revive an old dream.

His directorial debut, Thamma Kshame Irali Thande, marks an important new chapter. He has produced the film, directed it, and also plays a prominent role in it. "I come from amateur theatre, and cinema has given me everything. Every director and producer who trusted me helped me reach this stage. I feel all their support as I make my directorial debut," he says.

Based on a story by Sa Harish, the film follows the struggles of an honest, middle-class government employee who finds himself trapped in tough situations. "It's a story about helplessness and dignity. It shows how far a father can go for his son, and how a family stands together through pain. Many people will see their own home in this film," Suresh explains. To bring this emotional world alive, Suresh chose actors who could portray real and honest feelings. Manjunath Hegde plays the father while Renuka Bali plays the mother. "Their performances give the film its heartbeat," he says.

Young actor Shrimanth plays the son, who is torn between fear and confusion. Suresh himself plays a character he describes as "cold and cruel," a sharp turn from his well-known comic roles. "People know me for comedy. But this character is the opposite. Direction pushes you to break your own pattern." The cinematography by Suryakant, edited by Mutturaj, features actors like Rekha Sagar, Vinya Shetty, and senior theatre artistes. It captures everyday life, the narrow lanes of homes, busy offices, a father's quiet strength, and a son's growing worry.

A Still from the film



Moog Suresh

Once filming ended, Suresh felt a new sense of growth. "Direction makes you step into every character's mind. You feel their fears, hopes, and thoughts." As a producer, he also faced new responsibilities. "It was challenging, but it taught me a lot," says the first time director, concluding, "I have always been an actor. But directing this film felt like bringing an old dream to life. My team supported me throughout, and I am thankful."

Sydney-Amanda's film gets Indian release

CE FEATURES

The Housemaid, starring Sydney Sweeney and Amanda Seyfried, is all set to be released in India on January 2. The psychological thriller is directed by Paul Feig, who is known for directing films like Bridesmaids, A Simple Favor, and its sequel, Another Simple Favor.

The rest of the cast includes Brandon Sklenar, Michele Morrone, and Elizabeth Perkins. The official storyline of the film reads, "Trying to escape her past, Millie (Sweeney) accepts a job as a live-in housemaid for the wealthy Nina (Seyfried) and Andrew Winchester (Brandon Sklenar). But what begins as a dream job quickly unravels into something far more dangerous – a sexy, seductive game of secrets, scandal, and power."

Film: Familia

NAMRATA JOSHI

FRANCESCO Costabile's Familia is many genres rolled into one—thriller, horror, family drama—but, most of all, it's a slice of unyielding toxicity. The filmmaker is emphatic and explicit in putting the noxiousness underlying relationships under the scanner, making the film an understandably uneasy watch. After having opened in Venice last year, Familia has been picked as Italy's official entry for the 2026 Oscars in the Best International Feature Film category.

Based on Luigi Celeste's memoir Non sara sempre cosi (It won't be like this forever), about embracing fascism in the days of his youth, the film has Francesco Gheghi playing Celeste aka Gigi. Gigi and his brother Alessandro (Marco Cicalese) live in Rome with their mother Licia (Barbara Ronchi) after her separation from their violent father Franco (Francesco Di Leva). Costabile dives deep into the mind of Gigi and also does a psychological examination of the dysfunctional family,the parents in particular. On the one hand, there's no let-up in Franco's excesses; on the other, there's the misplaced trust of Licia and Gigi in assuming that he has mended his ways. "Don't make me regret," she says, of giving him space in their lives again. Which is exactly what he does. He manipulates them emotionally, plays mind games to insinuate himself back in the fold, telling them how much he has changed, how deeply he loves them and enjoys spending time with them, asking for forgiveness and a fresh start, but going back to his old ways. They get taken in by him and allow themselves to be victimised and tormented. Love and loyalty and brutality and trauma go hand in hand.

While Licia works tirelessly to support her sons, forgetting her own needs and desires in the process, the resultant anger, anxiety and the inability to understand and process his feelings for his father drive Gigi to the gang of skinheads. Only Alessandro is sorted enough to realise that redemption is easier wished for than achieved and that it is ridiculous to pretend normalcy. "Can't you remember how dad used to beat mom?" he asks Gigi, who appears to have conveniently erased it from memory, perhaps as a means to protect his own sanity. Gigi's and the larger family's journeys take a predictable course to hell. As Licia says of Franco, "We'll never be free of him". Though the film ends on a sad note, thankfully, Celeste, for real, did manage to get another shot at life after hitting rock bottom, as the end credits inform us.

Costabile crafts a fine film with characters and relationships that have depth and complexity. They are tied by fate but widely different in their responses to it. The ugliness of the situation is concurrent with the vulnerability and misfortune. Added to that is his tight control of the narrative that keeps his audience hooked. A suitably restless Gheghi, wise Cicalese, weary Ronchi and diabolical Di Leva power the family with their impeccable performances in a manner that makes them seem like a real family. Luca Servino's set design and Erika Aversa's set decor build a sense of suffocation, and Guiseppe Maio's camera adds to it the mood of intense and lingering dread. The frames often feel like a nightmare or hallucination themselves, underlined with Valerio Vigliar's sombre and ominous original score.

But the technical aspects apart, the film reaches out eventually for how it foregrounds pernicious parenting and how it can scar young lives forever. It's about the generational legacy of violence and guilt and the bequeathing of fear that sires further fear.
